BIGGEST SINGLE BATTLE OF YEAR

12-Hour Attack Halts Communist Drive To Sack Key Provincial City

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese paratroopers backed by U.S. artillery and warplanes hurled back hordes of counterattacking North Vietnamese regulars, killing at least 400 in one of the war's biggest Allied victories, military spokesmen said today.

The 12-hour battle began yesterday and raged through the night on the coastal plain about 330 miles northeast of Saigon. The coastal region has been the focal point of a joint U.S., South Korean, and South Vietnamese offensive for the past week.

Maj. Gen. Tran Than Phong, operations chief of the Vietnamese joint general staff, said the campaign frustrated an attempt by the Communists to sack the key provincial capital city of Quang Ngai and score a much needed propaganda victory.

He said the allied troops were alerted after intelligence reports indicated that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had used the Lunar New Year truce to move into position for an attack on Quang Ngai.

BEFORE DAWN

The Communists launched the assault before dawn on Feb. 15, with simultaneous mortar attacks on the headquarters of the Vietnamese 2nd Division based in Quang Ngai and a number of nearby outposts, he said.

They followed this with an attack by two main force regiments—North Vietnamese cadres fleshed out with hard-core guerrillas—on the city itself.

But Vietnamese paratroopers and Korean troops, leapfrogging by helicopter and supported by American air strikes and artillery, hurled back the attackers in three bloody battles, Phong said.

The fighting yesterday was the biggest single battle of the year. It erupted when about 1,000 regular North Vietnamese Army troops being chased by the South Vietnamese soldiers decided to turn and fight.

BODIES COUNTED

Reports from the battlefield said 400 Communist bodies were counted. Vietnamese military officials estimated at least 350 more were dragged away by the survivors.

The South Vietnamese were so elated by their victory that Chief of Staff Gen. Cao Van Vien flew to the battlefield for a personal inspection. Phong also made an on-the-spot survey.

The coastal campaign, spokesmen said, has raised the Communist death toll for the past week to more than 2,000—one of the worst sustained by the enemy since the fierce battle of Ia Drang Valley in November 1965.

Monsoon rains limited the air war against North Vietnam Sunday, spokesmen said.

Peking Adds Withdrawal In Viet Peace

TOKYO (UPI) —Communist China said today an end of U.S. air attacks against North Vietnam could not alone bring about peace talks on the Vietnam war. The United States must first withdraw all its troops from the south, it said.

"As long as the U.S. forces still occupy South Vietnam, no matter whether the U.S. bombs the North or not, the U.S. continues to be the aggressor and that even includes if the U.S. stops bombing of North Vietnam forever," Peking Radio said.

The broadcast quoted excerpts from an editorial in today's issue of the official Peking People's Daily, voice of the ruling Chines Communist party. The editorial was Peking's strongest and most important pronouncement on the Vietnam war in recent months.

"The Vietnam issue does not end with a halt in U.S. bombing," the article said. "It is not a question whether the U.S. bombs the North or not."

The main condition for peace talks is the withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam, it added.

It said there was no escaping a long-term war so long as U.S. troops remained in the South.

China watchers here believe the strong Chinese statement was directed to North Vietnam was much as it was to the United States.

They said the Chinese fear Hanoi might be considering peace talks along the lines suggested by Washington.

North Vietnam has demanded an unconditional end of the U.S. air war as a precondition for peace talks. It also includes the complete withdrawal of all U.S. forces from South Vietnam as one of its four points for a Vietnam peace.

16 Officers Suspended At Military Academy

Athletic Director Also Reported Out

Sixteen of the 18 cadet officers at San Rafael Military Academy were suspended for a week today for signing a complaint against the rank system at the academy.

It was reported also that Laurence Fulton, athletic director at the school, had been suspended for encouraging the students in their complaint.

The suspensions were handed out during the first period class this morning. The only two cadet officers not suspended were Maj. Sherman Garner, a boarding student, and Lt. Rick Hillrigel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hillrigel of 30 Mission Avenue, San Rafael. They had not signed the complaint.

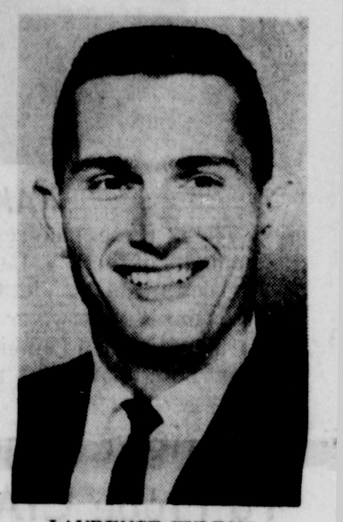
Officials at the academy could not be reached this morning, being reported variously "out" and "at lunch." However, the suspensions of the students were confirmed with several of those involved and their parents.

J. Barry Cooke of 253 Laurel Grove Avenue, Kentfield, whose son, Cadet Lt. Dennis Cooke, was one of those suspended, said: "We're very disappointed over what happened today. . . . The boys have a case, and they presented it and backed off very gracefully. They were willing to leave it up to the school authorities for determination."



LAURENCE FULTON

REMOVE INSIGNIA

The revolt at the academy, which is owned and operated by the Episcopal Church, flared into the open last Wednesday when the 16 cadet officers removed their insignia of rank and signed a protest against the system of military rank and discipline at the school. Many of the non-commissioned officers then removed their sleeve insignia in sympathy.

Thursday morning, the students were told they must restore their insignia to be admitted to class. All did so.

School authorities then reportedly told the cadets that any who "really meant it" could resign their cadet commissions individually. However, none of the boys took this action, pending a ruling by the school authorities on their complaint.

Today's mass suspensions followed.

'PRETTY SICK'

Students who said they talked with Coach Fulton after a session he had with Headmaster L. W. Robertson reported he "felt pretty sick about it all" and would make no comment. They

GEORGE H. GNOSS
The clerk as fireman

REAL SMOKE CHASER

County Clerk Gets Fire Hat Of Year

Did you ever think of County Clerk George H. Gnoss as a smoke chaser?

Marin County's firemen do. In fact, they think so highly of him in that pursuit that they honored him as "Fireman of the Year" Saturday night at the annual installation dinner of the Marin County Firemen's Association at the Lodge in Novato.

Gnoss has been a volunteer fireman in Novato for 30 years. He has served as president, secretary, and — for 22 years — treasurer of the Novato Volunteer Fire Department. He has also served as chairman of many committees of the department. He was assistant chief in 1939-40.

Novato Fire Chief George Cavallero nominated him for the award, citing his record of service and his participation in fire drills and response to fire alarms, "being faithful throuth the years as a service to the local community."

Robert Warner, installed as president of the association at the dinner, presented Gnoss with a plaque.

Gnoss, who lives at 575 Olive Avenue, Novato, has been county clerk since March, 1962. His service in the county clerk's office corresponds to that as treasurer of the Novato Volunteer Fire Department — 22 years.

Car Death Brings Probation Term

A Hamilton Air Force Base master sergeant, object of a deluge of letters on his behalf, today was placed on two years probation without jail term for the Aug. 5 traffic death of a social worker from Mill Valley.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court ruled that the offense of Kenneth O. Henderson, 41, of 152 West Kelly Drive on the base be considered mideameanor manslaughter.

Sergeant Henderson, tearful following the judgment, had pleaded guilty Jan. 9 to manslaughter in the wrong-way, two-car collision death of Gene Edward Darrow of 116 Marguerite Avenue on Highway 101.

A second count, felony drunken driving, had been dismissed by Judge Wilson following the other plea.

In pronouncing sentence today, Judge Wilson declared, "I have never seen a defendant come before the court as highly recommended as this man." He said the amount of letters and other recommendations on behalf of the sergeant was enormous, that he felt Sergeant Henderson was fully penitent, and any jail term would only be "punitive" and not serve as future deterrent.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales asked for an unspecified term in county jail in addition to the probation.

Sergeant Henderson's attorney, Lindsay M. Mickles of San Francisco, declared a jail term would only "pile tragedy upon tragedy." He termed the traffic collision a "situational" matter, saying that illness and marital problems led to the sergenat's conduct that day.

Sergeant Henderson was driving north in the highway's southbound lanes near Waldo Tunnel, according to California Highway Patrol, when his car collided head-on with the southbound car driven by Darrow, a San Francisco Welfare Department employee.

Bales said Sergeant Henderson had an extremely high blood alcohol content, indicating he had consumed about "a dozen" drinks prior to the crash.

Five Assistants To Reagan Buy $1 Million Ranch

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Five assistants to Gov. Ronald Reagan, including his top aide, have helped buy a Nevada County ranch for more than $1 million.

This came to light in county records today.

The ranch of 2,000 acres in the Wolf Creek area of the county was purchased from Curtis Bryford and J. D. Williams of Oroville.

It was bought in the name of the Grass Valley Land Co.

The members of the governor's staff included among the several purchasers are Philip M. Battaglia, his executive secretary; Lyn Nofziger, press secretary; Charles P. Tyson, Lee Holt and Curtis C. Patrick, all staff members.

Landslides Deaths At 205 In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Massive landslides triggered by heavy weekend rains have killed at least 205 persons and left thousands homeless, Guanabara State authorities reported today.

They said the death toll was expected to climb as rescue work continued.

McNamara Says Asians Want Bombing Continued

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today certain "impartial" Asian leaders have recommended against halting U.S. bombing of North Vietnam on grounds it would be misinterpreted "as a sign of weakness."

McNamara declined to identify the Asian leaders in congressional testimony, given a month ago, but made public today by the Senate Armed Services Committee and military appropriations subcommittee.

"In any case," he said, "there are Asian leaders of other nations not involved militarily in South Vietnam who have recommended we not stop the bombing and who say that such action would be misinterpreted."

The secretary's comments, made in an exchange with Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., were among the few items not deleted from the heavily censored transcript of the hearing.

In other portions of the testimony McNamara declined to discuss representation of the Viet Cong at peace talks and other matters which we described as foreign policy questions.

But he told Pastore that the United States had made it clear to North Vietnam, at different times—and in different ways, "that we would be willing to stop the bombing without any action on their part preceding it, with no firm guarantee as to what they would do, but with just some general indication of how they would act.

"We have never received any indication that they would respond favorably," McNamara said.

His comments on the recommendations of the unnamed Asian leaders came after Pastore, noting the expressed views of Uinted Nations Secretary General Thant, suggested that the United States might take a calculated risk on a halt in the bombing.

In his testimony McNamara defended the effectiveness of the bombing, as a pressure on the Communists, and said: "They are putting on such a campaign worldwide to get us to stop that it is obvious they are influenced by it, and I think at some point this might well lead to a field for negotiations."

Heyns Ignores Student Pleas

BERKELEY (UPI) — Chancellor Roger W. Heyns, ignoring student requests for a greater voice on the Campus Rules Committee, today named four University of California professors to the advisory body.

The appointments will allow the 10-member committee to meet Friday for the first time since last May, when resignations and departures lowered its membership.

Heyns named Robert M. O'Neil, law; James K. Mitchell and Karl S. Pister, engineering; and Irwin Scheiner, history. There are five student and one administration representatives on the committee.

Harbor Budget Cuts Forecast

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The budget of the State Harbors and Watercraft Department may be cut as much as 40 per cent, Director Lachlan M. Richards told the Harbors and Watercraft Commission today.

The Reagan administration is seeking a general 10-per cent cut in the operating budgets for 1967-68, but Gov. Ronald Reagan has said some departments may have to cut more and others less.

The major reduction faced by the harbors and watercraft department is $4 million in the local grant programs, Richards said.

The cutbacks could delay processing of boat registration and reduce other services to the boating public, he said.

State Gives Approval To Bolinas Plan

Special to the I-J

SACRAMENTO — The State Harbors and Waterways Commission today approved a $30,000 loan to Bolinas Harbor District for planning of Bolinas Lagoon —despite the purchase by Nature Conservancy of 110-acre Kent Island, which was included in the plan.

Commissioner Edmund P. Halley objected that, although he realized the need for a harbor of refuge at Bolinas, the planning money sought was more than normally requested and the situation seemed to be changed by the removal of the island from the district's jurisdiction. However, he did not dissent in a voice vote approving the loan.

The island was deeded to the county following its purchase, to be held as a wildlife refuge without development.

The state loan gives the harbor district the go-ahead for planning based on preliminary design by Mill Valley architect Norman T. Gilroy which would include commercial marina development to finance the cost of a harbor of refuge. It covers only the first phase of planning. The project was divided into two phases with a total of $67,000 sought as a loan from the state.

Gene McDaniels, chairman of the harbor district board, headed the delegation which presented the proposal to the commission.

Gas Detected Early Enough To Save Lives

SOUTH MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) —About 250 persons were spending a gray February yesterday in St. Adalbert's brand new school addition, rehearsing for the Catholic Church's sacrament of confirmation.

Outside, a chemical seeped from a sewer pipe.

Max Stozyk, who was shoveling snow, sniffed a pungent odor. It was gas.

DETECTION

This chance detection, and Strozyk's presence of mind in calling the fire department, explained why the loss in two explosions that smashed much of the parish complex into rubble was measured today in dollars—not in human lives.

Fourteen persons were injured, one critically, in the explosions. Five were hospitalized overnight.

Firemen responded to Strozyk's call shortly before 4 p.m. They interrupted the rehearsal and ordered everyone from the building. The evacuation took just a few minutes, and was accomplished with the precision of a much rehearsed drill.

"The road (alongside the church) was bubbling with gas," Fire Capt. Donald Rupert said.

At 4:20 p.m., a deafening roar shattered the quiet suburban neighborhood. Spectators who had been in the church building minutes before were slammed to the ground. Glass and debris flew for half a block. Capt. Rupert said he and three of his men were hurled across the street by the first blast.

CHILD INJURED

Rev. Raymond Mrozinski the assistant pastor, said he was "walking away from the building and the north wall blew out. I just fell and banged a knee."

The wall fell where a child had been standing.

"Some kids were nearby, so we ran to the wall and started throwing bricks from the pile," the priest said. "Someone had seen a hand. We uncovered him, and the ambulance arrived."

Donald Sobon, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sobon, of South Milwaukee, was the boy pulled by Father Mrozinski from the rubble. He was in critical condition at Trinity Memorial Hospital in nearby Cudahy.

Fire Chief Max Dinkelman, who was in the boiler room when the second blast ripped the building, was hospitalized in fair condition.

Detective Claims Five In JFK Plot

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —A former private detective says five persons were involved with Lee Harvey Oswald in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, and he knows their identities.

David Lewis, a bus station express handler who worked as a private investigator here in the months before the assassination, said yesterday he has the names of the five persons allegedly involved in the planning phase of the plot on the president's life.

But Lewis said he would not disclose the names of the alleged conspirators until permitted to do so by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison, who this weekend said the plot to assassinate Kennedy was hatched in New Orleans. Garrison charged that Oswald had plenty of help in devising the scheme, and vowed he would prove it.

Garrison, who has blasted the Warren Commission Report which ruled there was no conspiracy, said he would not turn over his investigation either to the FBI or the Department of Justice.

Fulbright Urges Congress To Probe CIA Operations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright has called for a special congressional investigation into the Central Intelligence Agency's operations among student and other groups.

The Arkansas Democrat said yesterday that the extent of the CIA's activities "is much greater than I ever imagined it would be. I knew it engaged in some of these activities, but I had no idea it was extensive as it is at this late date."

Fulbright said that President Johnson's action in naming a three-man panel to "review" CIA policy "doesn't seem to be quite an adequate response to this."

He noted that one of the members of the President's panel is CIA Director Richard M. Helms. "Well, I must say, to ask Mr. Helms to investigate the CIA seems a little odd," Fulbright added. "He is the head of that. It is liking asking Mr. Joe Fowler (Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler) to investigate the Treasury."

Fulbright's call for a congressional inquiry into CIA activities was made during a television interview "Issues and Answers" —(ABC).

It came amid reports that a Canadian student group may also have received money from the agency.

Canadian Broadcasting Corp. (CBS) said yesterday that the Canadian Union of Students had received $1,500 in 1965 and $1,500 in 1966 for student seminars from the New York-based Foundation for Youth and Student Affairs.

The Foundation for Youth and Student Affairs has been identified as one of the contributors to the U.S. National Student Association, which admitted last week it had been receiving CIA money for the past 15 years.

The National Student Association said during the weekend that it was turning over all its records to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which Fulbright heads, for any possible future investigation of CIA ties with private organizations.

Meantime, officials of the American Newspaper Guild AFL-CIO were still investigating whether their union had ever received CIA money for its international affairs program.

Supervisors Ask Transient Study

OAKLAND (UPI) — Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors has requested a survey by the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District that could put the county back in the district.

The supervisors asked AC Transit District to make the survey for the purpose of annexing the county. But they requested that it be made at no cost to the county.

Transit District President John McDonnell said the supervisors and the 13 communities show unanimity before an anof the county will have to nexation survey is made.

Oppenheimer, Called The Father Of Atomic Bomb, Dies Of Cancer

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) —J. Robert Oppenheimer, illuminated as a scientific genius in the flash of the first atomic bomb explosion, will be buried privately after funeral services attended only by those closest to him.

His widow, Katherine, yesterday declined to give details of the services for Oppenheimer, 62, who died Saturday night of throat cancer at his home on the grounds of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton University.

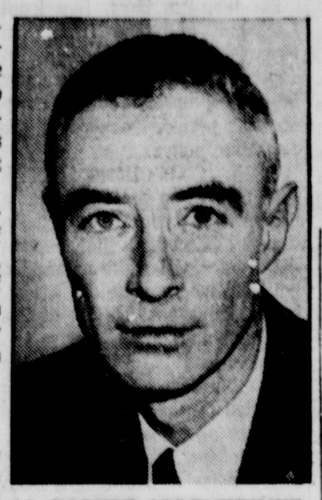
Oppenheimer headed the institute from 1947 to 1966.

A memorial service for the soft-spoken silver-haired genius who was called "the father of the atomic bomb" will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday in Alexander Hall at Princeton University.

Oppenheimer, was director of the Los Alamos, N.M. scientific laboratory, where the atomic bomb was created, from early 1943 to 1945.

Oppenheimer, who sometimes seemed haunted by the thought of what he had created, later called the work "a sin".

But in 1961, in reference to the atomic bombings of Horoshima and Nagasaki, which violently ended World War II, he said: "I carry no weight on my conscience."



J. ROBERT OPPENHEIMER
Atom genius dies

Oppenheimer was a controversial figure. In April, 1954, President Dwight Eisenhower ordered "a black wall be placed between Oppenheimer and secret data."

His troubles centered around his association with Communists and suspected Communists as well as story of attempted atomic espionage that Oppenheimer told Army counter-intelligence officere in 1943 and later repudiated as having been "a cock-and-bull story."

Oppenheimer never sought a review of his security status, but President Johnson presented im the Atomic Energy Commission's 1963 Enrico Fermi award for the peaceful use of atomc energy.

The school population in 1971 will total 87,500. The minorities will include Negroes, 34 per cent; Orientals, 20 per cent; and Spanish-speaking, 10 per cent.

1,000 Reported Dead In China Fighting

HONG KONG (UPI)—The official Nationalist Chinese news agency said today more than 1,000 persons were killed last week in a clash of pro-and anti-Mao Tse-tung factions in mainland China's central Szechuan province.

Taipei's Central News Agency (CNA), the organ of the ruling Kuomintang (Nationalist Party), attributed its report to Nationalist Chinese intelligence authorities who it said are receiving a steady flow of information from agents on the mainland.

The fighting was still in progress, the report said.

If the CNA report was true, the reported clash would be the bloodiest so far in Red China's chaotic power struggle.

Hong Kong newspapers also told of fresh violence between supporters and opponents of the aging Chinese party chairman in China's two southern coastal provinces of Kwangtung and Fukien, across the Formosa straits from Taiwan.

At least 60 Red Guard supoorters of Mao were reported killed in fighting in Canton and Fat-shun cities and more than 100 others injured, the newspaper report said.

Farther up the mainland coast, Peking Radio today reported a serious rift among Mao's supporters in Tsingtao, Red China's largest naval base and onetime headquarters of the U. S. 7th Fleet.

According to CNA, the bitter battle in Szechuan province took place last Wednesday but was spreading to other parts of the country. Preliminary estimates indicated the casualties had reached 1,000 and were still rising, CNA said.

The battle was reported to have erupted when anti-Mao elements in charge of the Lofeng commune in Wan Shien province instigated the peasant farmers to beat up local Red Guards, the agency said.

The dispatch said Li Ming, commander of the Wan Hisen sub military district openly declared himself on the side of the anti-Mao forces and threw his army units into the fight.

CNA said he declared his loyalty only to Chinese President Liu Shao-chi, Mao's chief opponent in the current power struggle.

The report said Li publicly demonstrated his disloyalty to Mao by tearing up a picture of the Chinese Communists chairman.

Recent news reports from Red China have indicated that Szechuan province was a stronghold of anti-Mao opposition.

The reports of violence in Kwantung and Fukiien provinces came from travelers recently arrived from Red China. One group of travelers said more than 60 pro-Mao Red Guards were killed and scores wounded in a fight in Fat-shun city in Kwangtung.

Big Program Of Aid To Fight Crime

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Recognizing that modern crime knows no boundaries, President Johnson's Crime Commission is urging a massive program of federal aid to state and local lawmen.

The Crime Commission, in the most exhaustive survey ever made of crime in America, proposed more than 200 reforms designed to beef-up "undernourished" law enforcement agencies.

The report, made public during the weekend, said the annual cost of crime has spiraled to $21 billion.

URGENT CALL

President Johnson, describing the survey as "a call to urgent action" at all levels of government, expressed hope Congress would take quick action on his Safe Streets and Crime Control Program.

The President noted, however, that crime cannot be defeated by federal action alone. He urged local governments, civic leaders, clergymen and the press to join in the war.

"There are no easy answers," the 19-member commission conceded in filing its report. But it said it was sure "the nation can control crime if it will."

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., former Massachusetts Attorney General, agreed the federal government must do more to help local law enforcement agencies.

Among the key proposals were these recommendations:

Overhaul state and local court systems to give judges, prosecutors and police "a far broader range of techniques with which to deal with individual offenders."

Spend enough money to attract "more and better people —police, prosecutors, judges, defense attorneys, probation and parole officers and corrections officials with more knowledge, expertise, initiative, and integrity."

MORE MONEY

Give "substantially greater amounts of money" to police, courts and correctional agencies so they can "improve their ability to control crime."

Eliminate inequities in the criminal justice system so the poor can respect it.

Members of the commission, in television interviews yesterday Meet the Press — NBC, rejected claims that Supreme Court rulings have encouraged the rise in lawlessness.

Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, chairman of the commission, said charges that court rulings have hampered police investigations are "inutterable nonsense."

The commissioners also disputed the contention that the civil rights movement has encouraged lawbreakers.

Commission members Whitney M. Young Jr. and Columbia Law Prof. Herbert J. Weschler said the rising crime rate could not be linked to the civil rights doctrine of civil disobedience.

The commission report said a major factor in the soaring crime rate was three generations of neglect which have denied police, courts and correctional institutions the money, men, science and citizen interest needed to do an effective job.

Thieves Enter Two Schools

Thieves stole more than $15 in change and caused an estimated $200 damage to vending machines in Terra Linda and San Rafael high schools during the weekend, police reported.

A public telephone and a student locker also were pried open in San Rafael High School, but it was not known how much was missing.

San Rafael's cafeteria was entered Saturday night by breaking a window, while burglars got into Terra Linda High School early yesterday through a cafeteria door.

Burglars broke into the home of Jack MacPhee at 60 Wood Street, San Rafael, Friday night, stealing an $800 gun collection and $500 in coins.

Nine guns and the coins, including 91 silver dollars, were taken from a cabinet in MacPhee's bedroom after entry to the house was gained by breaking a front door window.

Six Teeners Charged In Burglaries

Six teen-age boys, five from Larkspur and one from San Francisco, were charged Saturday with a rash of Larkspur burglaries spread over a five-month period, according to Larkspur police.

Police Chief Howard Clark said that when the six, ranging in age from 14 to 17, were questioned Saturday they gave details of nine burglaries and led police to where some of the loot, including several bottles of liquor, was hidden.

Clark said only three of the nine burglaries had been reported to police. He listed the offenses as follows:

In October, two of the boys took a bottle of champagne from the home of Abe Kupperberg, 74 Cornell Avenue, Chief Clark said. Late in December, two took $15 in cash from the home of Barnetta B. Fine, 249 Tulane Drive.

Between Dec. 17 and 20, four boys took 22 bottles of champagne from the home of John C. Papagni, 250 Tulane Drive. About the first of February, one boy took a six-pack of beer from the garage of Thomas V. McQuade, 171 Tulane Drive.

The weekend of Feb. 4, two of the boys took $22 in cash from the home of Arthur E. Storhaug, 99 Dartmouth Drive. On Feb. 10 two took some silver dollars and phonograph records from the home of Bertha Marie Loeffler, 253 Tulane Drive. On Feb. 11, three broke into the Escalle Winery and took eight bottles of liquor. On Feb. 11, two returned to Mrs. Fine's home and took a box containing money, some cologne, and phonograph records.

On Feb. 13, two entered the home of Margaret Ann Hanson and one took $5, but both were frightened off by the return of Mrs. Hanson.

Clark said he expects more burglaries to come to light before the case is closed.

CADETS

said the school was going to put out the report that Fulton was going "on vacation."

Two of the disgruntled students Saturday reported the feeling over the student rank setup as long-standing. They termed it "a complete waste of time which defeats its own purpose."

One of them said he and fellow students would like to see the seniors made counselors to the younger boys instead of officers over them.

"This has been going on so long now we have become a little tired of the undertaking by the school that they would look into the situation," said two of the protestants. "We want it done now."

One cadet claimed that when a school Jeep was taken for a joy ride, those responsible were punished with eight demerits — the same number as for missing four mess calls during a weekend. He called the system of discipline inequitable.

Cadets who are boarding students were sent home. Several took air lines to their homes today. School authorities told the boys their homework for the next week would be mailed to them.

Remember when you used to pay $33.00 to fly to Los Angeles?

Well, PSA changed all that. Now it's $11.43.

It's true. PSA pioneered low air fares. And what did it get us? Well, lots of passengers for one thing. Oh yes, and some competition from other airlines who were forced to lower their fares from time to time.

So what do we want—a medal? No, but it might be nice if you bought a ticket sometime. Especially since we still have the lowest air fares.

Supervisors To Study Marin City Protection

The Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow morning will discuss police protection in Marin City, recreation for older adults, and legislation.

Drydocks off Sausalito, agricultural preserves and agricultural zoning are scheduled for discussion in the afternoon.

The session will begin at 9 a.m. at Civic Center.

Set for 5 p.m. is a joint meeting with Marin County judges for discussion of several items including possible use of Synanon for parole and some juvenile placements, creation of a probate commissioner position, and alleged early releases of lawbreakers.

The morning discussion on Marin City is a continuation of last week's complaint raised by residents, who said there was no protection against burglary and other crimes. Supervisors then authorized re-establishment of the sheriff's substation in Marin City and asked a report be submitted tomorrow on its staffing.

Supervisors will try to set policy for the coming fiscal year on supporting recreation for older adults in the cities. The administrator's office will recommend $2,000 for each city with a program, except for San Rafael which would get $4,000.

The legislative discussion concerns the grand jury's recommendation for averaging business inventory rather than basing tax on inventories the first Monday in March.

The afternoon session, starting at 1:45 p.m., will lead off with discussion of complaints by Sausalito residents over the drydocks mired off the shore for several months.

The board will also consider additional agricultural preserve contracts, including one from developers of Oceana Marin tract at Dillon Beach, seeking to put a strip of dunes into agricultural preserve.

Supervisors will also discuss further the concept of exclusive agricultural zoning raised by Supervisor John F. McInnis.

Retirement Badges

Bolinas Fire Department Saturday night presented gold retirement badges to Remington J. Wood, J. Raymond Pepper and James Dougan. Chief Jose A. Silva presented the badges at the annual ladies' night.

Lagunitas Board To Move Quickly On Bond Action

Lagunitas School District's new building program, given the green light by voters last week, will be set in motion tomorrow at the trustees meeting at 8 p.m. in the school.

Board members will talk over preparations of the program which include buying land next to the school and building permanent classrooms, replacing portable ones.

Last Tuesday, residents voted about 3-1 in favor of a $250,000 bond issue and nearly as high a margin for a $290,000 state loan request.

Also on the agenda is an audit report for 1965-66 and discussion of policy revisions.

Volunteers Are Sought By Hospital

A plea for volunteers to help patients at Napa State Hospital readjust to life outside has been made by the Marin Association for Mental Health.

Among the qualifications required: Volunteers should be able to speak a foreign language, have lots of leisure time and like talking to older people. Some have long been forgotten by friends and relatives.

The volunteers — who would supplement care by the professional staff—may serve as interpreters, tutor in recreational activities, encourage hobbies, reading and letter writing and occasionally take patients out for a meal and on shopping trips.

A special staff member will be assigned to supervise the work of the volunteer who will be provided orientation before being assigned. The office of the Marin Association of Mental Health is at 1066 A Street, San Rafael.

Let them kid about your funny-sounding Mercedes-Benz 200 Diesel. At 100,000 miles or so, you'll have the last laugh.

The Mercedes-Benz 200 Diesel throws convention to the winds for the sake of running economy and long life. It burns inexpensive diesel fuel, at a miserly rate. It simply does away with carburetors and spark plugs. And it's so phenomenally durable that it may be the last car you ever need to buy. An amazing car—read the whole amazing story.

You will pocket handy savings every month on fuel costs alone. Tune-ups are rare and major engine overhauls, rarer still. It is no pipe dream to expect 100,000 miles of service from your 200D; Mercedes-Benz receives regular reports of owners having clocked this much—and even more.

You may blink at your first sight of the engine that makes such feats possible. You'll see no carburetors, no spark plugs, no distributors, no condensers, no points—and no bills for replacing or adjusting them.

Deep down inside, diesel fuel is fed directly into the combustion chambers by four tiny injection nozzles.

Once injected, the fuel is ignited by compression heat instead of by spark plugs. This engine's compression ratio is 21 to 1—compared to 10 to 1 for most modern V8's.

Without special economy driving techniques, your 200 Diesel can achieve up to 30 miles per gallon in normal driving. A gentler touch on the throttle can raise the figure even higher.

Old wives' tales quashed

Contrary to myth, you will not be deafened by "Diesel knock." The 200 Diesel engine's forceful combustion does cause a muffled clatter at idling speeds, but the noise fades once you're under way. Then, as CAR LIFE magazine's test driver writes, "things quiet down and many unsuspecting passengers are surprised to learn that they've been riding in a Diesel."

Contrary to another myth, diesel fuel is widely available. Cross-country truckers have no trouble finding it; neither should you. But you'll hardly need a fuel station at every corner, when one tankful can take you 500 miles.

No skimping

Mercedes-Benz engineers don't cut corners; the chassis and running gear of your 200 Diesel match its engine for durability.

After being welded at 10,000 points, the heavy-gauge steel body gets a 24-pound primer coat and a 24-pound slathering of undercoat. Before the rocker panels are sealed, their insides are lined with zinc caulking. Under the chrome on that classic Mercedes-Benz radiator are layers of copper and nickel.

Sports car road holding

Mercedes-Benz engineers fitted the same type of independent suspension to the 200 Diesel as they devised for the $6262* 230SL sports car. It lends extra bite to road holding, and your passengers will be amazed at how it deftly smothers bumps and jolts.

Braking emergencies will never cause grey hairs: 9.9-inch front disc brakes (with a gentle power assist) ease you down to quick, unruffled stops. A further aid—4-ply tires, found safe in steady cruising at 100 mph. Their fierce grip contributes to safe braking, even on wet roads.

Painless travel

You will find the 200 Diesel a pleasant place to spend the next several thousand miles.

Orthopedic physicians were called in to help design seats that support your body properly, quelling fatigue. The individual front seats measure two feet wide, and their backs recline for catnaps with the twist of a knob. You bask in a constantly replenished supply of fresh air, with stale air whisked away through hidden grills.

Thoughtful extras surround you, from overhead passenger assist-grips at each door to a carpeted rear-window package shelf, to the small electric clock on the dash.

A word on safety

Mercedes-Benz has received widespread publicity about its safety engineering achievements over the past several years.

Work continues to make Mercedes-Benz cars even safer—both in avoiding trouble, and in protecting you if trouble should occur.

For sane drivers, Mercedes-Benz cars can help reduce the hazards of driving without dulling its pleasures.

But however well engineered it may be, no car can entirely defend against the show-off, the drunkard, or the neurotic bent on self-destruction. Safety depends on you, too.

Tribunal Directs Hearing On House Seating In Texas

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court directed a lower federal court today to reconsider a challenge claiming that the Texas House of Representatives is unfairly apportioned.

The Court voted 6 to 3 that a rehearing be given five Democrats, including a U.S. congressman, who brought the challenge. An unsigned opinion cited a Florida legislative apportionment decision of Jan. 9 which upset that state's apportionment plan on grounds there was no justification for the variations in population among the legislative districts.

In other actions today, the Court:

Ruled 5 to 4 that two Maryland brothers, John and James Giles, were entitled to a new chance to upset their 1961 rape conviction for which they are serving life sentences. In sending the case back to the Maryland Court of Appeals, the Supreme Court took note that the prosecution did not inform the defense of vital factors in the alleged victim's character background, including claimed sexual promiscuity.

Ordered a new trial for Ruth Elizabeth Chapman and Thomas Leroy Teale, convicted in California for the 1962 murder of a bartender. Speaking for the majority, Justice Hugo L. Black took issue with remarks made by the prosecutor and the trial judge concerning the failure of the two defendants to take the witness stand. Justice John M. Harlan dissented.

The Texas case was one of a number to reach the Court since its famed one man, one vote reapportionment decision.

One Jailbird Flies, Other Is Caught

Air Police at Hamilton Air Force Base nabbed a couple of jail birds Saturday, but, one of them flew.

About 10 a.m. Air Police picked up Otis Williams and Andrew Videau, both of San Francisco, in the salvage yard, which is a restricted area.

Checking their records, the Air Police found that Williams was wanted by San Francisco police, and had a record of 17 times in jail. He was turned over to Novato police to head for San Francisco.

When the Air Police turned to question Videau, who also had a previous record, he had disappeared into the vastness of Hamilton Air Force Base. He had not been found today.

Pay Scale Ordinance On Agenda

The San Rafael City Council will consider final adoption tonight of an ordinance giving four elected city officials sliding scale pay raises for the next four years.

The ordinance, which passed first reading at the Feb. 6 council session, would hike the police chief from $900 monthly to $1,150 a month for the first year, then $50 per month annually for the next three years; city clerk from $850 a month to $875, then steps to $1,025; city treasurer, now at $750, to $875 and then in steps to $1,025, and the city attorney from $550 to $700, then by steps to $850.

The council has approved placing on the April 10 ballot a charter revision that would make the offices appointive.

Other business scheduled at 8 p.m. today in city hall include public hearings on rezoning Courthouse Square, a part of Francisco Boulevard, an appeal of planning commission denial for a teen-age ballroom, and an addition of a retail commercial district.

The council also will consider an application for a card room at the Bermuda Palms Motel, which the police will recommend denying; homeowners' requests for a new access road from Bret Harte to the downtown area and for flood damage control in Loch Lomond.

The council may postpone until March 6 further action on a plan for towing away illegally parked cars.

King To Preach

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. will preach a guest sermon next Sunday at Macedonia Missionary Baptist Church.

Humphrey's Stanford Visit Being Protested

STANFORD (UPI)—More than 200 persons, mostly students, participated in an all night teach-in preceding today's scheduled visit to Stanford University by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Supporters of the teach-in at Cubberley Auditorium estimated total attendance at about 350, but said there was substantial audience turnover during the night.

At least six participants were at the Memorial Auditorium steps at 8 a.m. to protest against the vice president's appearance. Students and faculty members opposing the Vietnam war planned a silent protest during Humphrey's speech shortly before noon.

Meantime, another group, including about 20 professors protesting the U.S. presence in Vietnam as "criminal, murderous, and intolerable," urged students to join with them in a walkout during the vice president's appearance at a student forum.

However, the campus newspaper, the Stanford Daily, issued an editorial endorsing the silent protest.

"The silent protest being promoted by the 'moderates' will provide an opportunity for an effective expression of opposition to U.S. involvement in Vietnam . . ." the editorial said. "The walkout protest, on the other hand, symbolizes a feeling among many groups that there is no hope for rational communication and that one no longer can resolve the conflict in opinions through discussion . . ."

English Prof. Lucio Ruotolo said the protestors would wear white armbands and white handkerchiefs to hear the vice president at Memorial Auditorium, but said they would never boo nor applaud him.

However, Student Body President David Harris said: "I hope the students treat Humphrey as he deserves—I think the man's a war criminal."

The vice president will return to San Francisco in the afternoon for an address before the 25th annual convention of the ational Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

He also planned meetings with local civic leaders before his Tuesday morning departure for Southern California and Arizona.

Humphrey and his wife, Muriel, were greeted by about 250 persons when their plane arrived from Minneapolis last night at Hamilton Air Force Base.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

CTA Is Greatest Material Source For This Columnist

The greatest source of data for this column is the California Teacher Association. It and its affiliates collect, tabulate and publish an amount of information about California public schools which dwarfs even that produced by the State Department of Education.

The CTA is also the column's most vigilant watchdog. Anything in the column contrary to the CTA's findings is pretty sure to produce a prompt letter or telephone call.

IN THE 11 months "The People's Schools" has been appearing, there have been four such communications from CTA officials. In one, a CTA official pointed out that a school district had been placed in the wrong geographical location, through confusion in names between an elementary district and a high school district. In another, a CTA official challenged the Contra Costa County counsel's interpretation of the Winton Act (which was no news to the writer; the column had already said as much).

In the third, the CTA caught "The People's Schools" in a boner — and it was not alone in doing so.

The column of Dec. 19, discussing "experts" on school district staffs, said: "If a business director is to be added, he must hold a teaching certificate, with an administrative credential."

HARRY FOSDICK, public relations director of CTA, was quick to point out that there is no such provision in California law.

Even quicker to point out the error was V. Lucchesi, assistant superintendent for business in the Santa Clara Unified School District and a member of the California Association of Public School Business Officials.

Fosdick wrote: "There was a move at one time to establish a special credential for business managers which would have required only a few courses in school law and administration. It was defeated by the protests of non-certificated business managers.

"In most instances where non-certificated business managers are employed, there is an attempt to limit their authority in making decisions which involve the instructional program, but this effort frequently is only partially successful. I could describe the bitterness felt by teachers and subordinate administrators in several districts where the business manager has exercised his own judgment in purchases of instructional materials, design of instructional facilities, and other decisions affecting the teaching program."

LUCCHESI PUT it a little differently. He wrote:

"There has been a definite effort on the part of the CTA and other teacher groups to restrict the use of 'non-certificated' personnel in administrative positions. The California School Employees Association . . . has worked successfully with legislators in preventing the exclusion of appointments in business administrative positions."

As it stands today, there is no legal requirement in California for school district business administrators to hold teaching and administrative certificates. However, most district assistant superintendents for business hold such certificates. And there is no legal requirement that they take so much as one business course to qualify.

There is, as Fosdick mentioned, considerable resentment by teachers and certificated administrators to the non-certificated business managers—it being obviously rather difficult for a business manager to do anything beyond keeping the books without in some way "exercising his own judgment in purchases of instructional materials, design of instructional facilities, or other decisions affecting the teaching program."

OH, YES—the fourth communication from the CTA! This, also from Fosdick, bore on the recent column concerning "instant tenure" as provided by Section 13444 of the Education Code. He wrote:

"The CTA did not sponsor enactment of Education Code Sec. 13444. Our representative opposed that bill in the Assembly, but withdrew the opposition in the Senate when the California Association of School Administrators supported an amended version in the mistaken belief that it would not require hearings and permit court appeals."

THE WRITER must admit that he is now confused — because he was told by a member of the Assembly Education Committee that CTA and CASA were both represented by the same lobbyist at the 1963 session which enacted Section 13444. Yet, according to Fosdick, the CTA lobbyist was opposing a bill that the CASA was pushing.

It should be added, however, that the bill that became Section 13444 was pushed also by the California Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO). Perhaps it deserves the principal credit—or blame.

Police Holding Murder Suspect

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A Brisbane man, who said he was robbed of $300, was held yesterday on suspicion of murder in the fatal beating of another man, police said.

The suspect, James J. Gwin, 41, told police the victim, Eldridge Jones, 44, San Francisco, and two women pursuaded him to take a motel room. Then the three attacked him, Gwin said, and took his money.

A struggle developed and the women fled with the money, Gwin said. The incident occurred late Saturday night at the Bayside Motel.

Unruh Wants Boards Free Of Politicians

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh moved today to take politicians—and politics—from the ruling bodies of California's higher education system.

Unruh, D-Inglewood, proposed legislation to ban ex-officio membership on the University of California Board of Regents and the state college board of trustees.

He said recent events within the U.C. Board of Regents had served to dramatize a "built-in structural defect" of official bodies governing higher education.

"Legitimately or not," the legislative leader said, "the recent upheaval at the University of California, which originated in its board of regents, is widely believed throughout the country to be strong evidence of political maneuverings harmful to our higher education."

Although Unruh didn't mention it, he obviously referred to action by the regents to fire university president Clark Kerr at the first meeting attended by Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Last week, with Reagan again present, the regents voted to keep the university tuition-free at least until the end of the 1968 spring quarter—more than a year away. Reagan had sought a $280-a-year tuition charge for the 9-campus university.

Unruh also is a member of the board of regents. His legislation would remove the speaker of the assembly, the governor, the lieutenant governor and the superintendent of public instruction from the regents.

It also would deny ex-officio membership to the presidents of the university the U.C. alumni association, the state board of agriculture and Mechanics Institute of San Francisco.

As to the 18-campus state college system, ex-officio membership on the board of trustees would be withdrawn for the governor, lieutenant governor, superintendent of public instruction, speaker of the Assembly and chancellor of the colleges.

ABAG Lists Agenda

Goals of the Association of Bay Area Governments will be studied and discussed at the organization's annual meeting, beginning at 8:45 a.m., Friday, in the Hotel Claremont, Berkeley, Warren Schmid, executive director, has announced.

Salary Proposals On Kentfield's School Agenda

The Kentfield School District board will hear salary proposals for next school year at 8 p.m. today at Wolfe Grade School.

R. H. Hybert, representing the Kentfield Teachers Association, will present the teachers' salary proposal, and Mrs. Cleo Harrington of the Kentfield chapter of the California School Employees Association will present the classified personnel proposal.

The board will hear a report on classes for the gifted pupils, classes, and classes for educationally handicapped pupils.

Agreements with the Kentfield Little League and with Marin Catholic High School to use district schools for baseball will be considered, and the board will consider hiring 10 College of Marin students for part-time work.

STAINED GLASS—Walter Connolly perches in his Fairfax gallery beneath stained glass windows executed by a San Anselmo artist, Ronald Markham, in his individual style yet reminiscent of the flowing lines of Art Nouveau.

GENUINE ARTICLES — A bronze candlestick made in America in 1906 and an ornate vase are two examples of authentic Art Nouveau sold in Stone and Bensons General Merchandise, Fairfax. Even the old cupie doll is in demand among Marin customers, who will buy anything old, so long as it's genuine.

It's Art Nouveau

By PAT PERRY

Those flowered cars, those Tiffany lamps, those elaborately lettered posters advertising dances. Nothing symbolizes the spirit of 1967 more eloquently. They're vivid, lively, unique.

Or are they? Look a little closer and you'll realize that they owe a great deal to a period of art that flourished briefly at the turn of the century. Art Nouveau.

This exotic new style began in the 1890s in a world surrounded by the gargoyles and knickknacks of Victoriana, when artists and craftsmen attempted to create a new style with the emphasis on long flowing lines, often featuring flowers, lily pads, and the female form. Sometimes it was beautiful, sometimes grotesque.

Recently antique collectors have taken up art nouveau. Dealer Bob Benson of Fairfax reports Marin residents are beginning to collect objects of this era—but he can still sell pieces at his full retail price by shipping them to Paris, where art nouveau is incredibly popular.

It's in every-day life that the renaissance of the style is so apparent. Those flamboyant dance posters that the kids pin on their walls owe a great deal to the bills of the 1890s painted by Alfons Mucha and Toulouse Lautrec. Contemporary artists have taken the meticulous craftsmanship and flowing lines of that era and combined it with op and pop art to produce another unique style.

Fairfax is brimming with samples of the style. (In fact, the town bids fair to take over from Sausalito as Marin's arty center, for it's still financially possible for a struggling artist to live there.)

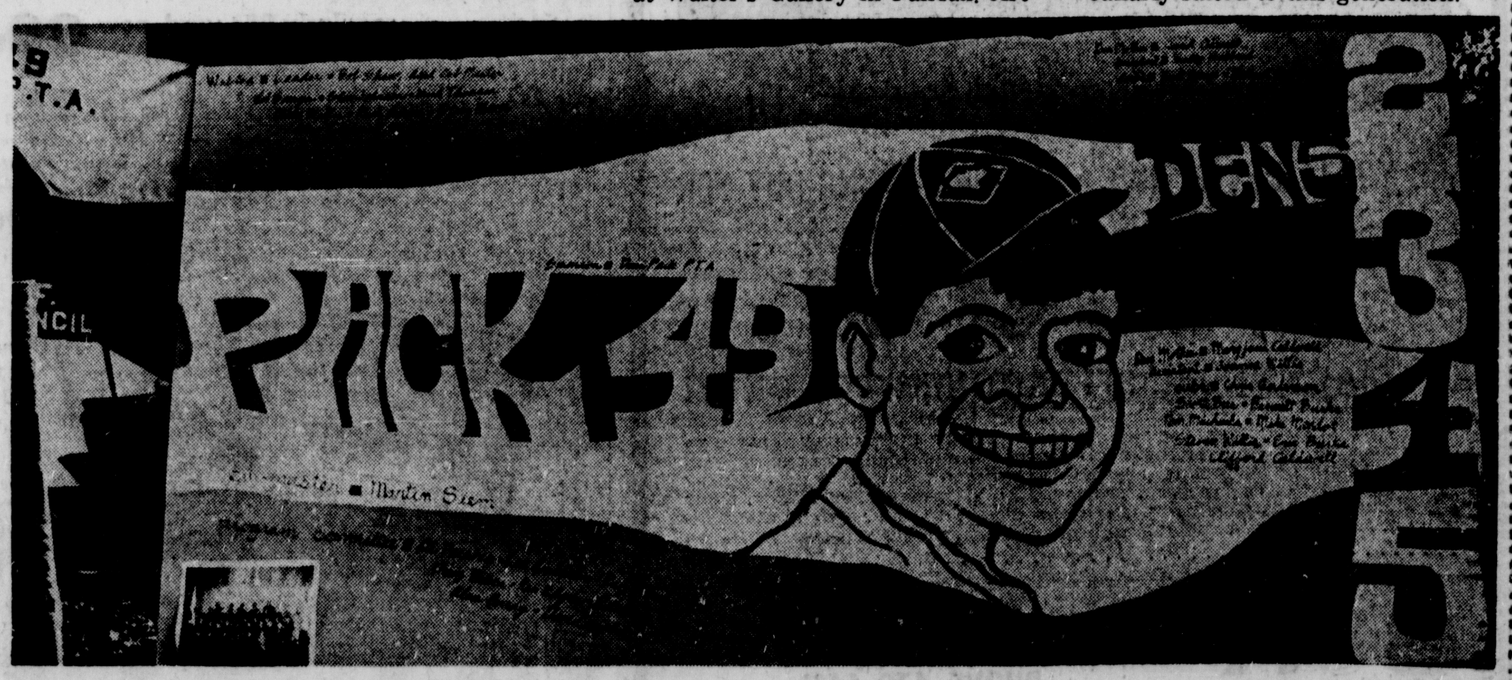
There's a laundrette, and many second-hand stores spattered with colorful designs. Intricately decorated cars and trucks chug around the streets and even the Cub Scouts advertise with swinging posters.

LOVE CAR—Allen (Fuzzy) Strong of 103 Marin Street, San Rafael, who plays with the Sons of Champlin group, and his flowered car.

FINE FORM—Woodcarver Bryan Scott of Fairfax practiced his art on the sidewalk beneath an ancient dressmaker's form, lovingly decorated.

NEW GENERATION — Beneath a stunning new lamp in Tiffany style, artist Don Perkins works with beads at Walter's Gallery in Fairfax. Artists of the sixties have taken the best forms of the Art Nouveau period and evolved it into a style peculiarly suited to this generation.

TERRIBLY IN—Elaborate posters advertising teen-age dances typify the resurgence of the intricate poster art of 60 years ago. Marin County dances are now all heralded with ads like this.



THEY DO THEIR BEST—Poster art was one of the highlights of the Art Nouveau era, and its revival in the sixties has been evidenced by spectacular posters, particularly for dances. In Marin even the Cub Scouts have joined with this blue and yellow eyecatcher by Pack 49 at Deer Park School.

SYNAGOGUE SCHOOL ABLAZE—Flames poured from classroom wing of Temple Rodef Sholom in the first of two weekend blazes in religious structures in San Rafael's outskirts during weekend. The other, at the Catholic Social Service headquarters, was called definitely arson by County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom. (Independent-Journal photo)

Religious Structures Hit By Weekend Fires

Two fires — one of which was called arson — broke out during the weekend in a Jewish school in Santa Venetia and a Catholic service headquarters in Los Ranchitos.

Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom, whose men fought both blazes, said he doubted they were connected.

The fires occurrred about a half-mile apart. Bloom said that which broke out at 10:30 p.m. yesterday in the headquarters of the Catholic Social Service of Marin County, 179 Los Ranchitos Road, Los Ranchitos, was set by burglars.

Damage was estimated at $10,000. Firemen fought 20 minutes to control the blaze.

About 6 p.m. Saturday, fire gutted a four-classroom wing of Temple Rodef Sholom School at 170 San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia, causing $55,000 damage. The building had been vandalized, Bloom said, but the cause of the fire remained under investigation.

In the Catholic service building, also headquarters for the Catholic Family Agency of Marin, one fire was set in the office of the director of caseworkers, Bloom said, and three in a secretary's office in another part of the building.

The chief said burglars, who entered the one-story frame building through a window, apparently set the fires upon finding nothing of value to steal. Firemen said they found file cabinets rifled in both offices.

Bloom, estimating damage at $8,000 to the building and $2,000 to contents, said most of the damage occurred in the caseworker chief's office.

The school blaze, he said, could have been caused by a gas heater near the fire origin, but the possibility that vandals set it was not being ruled out.

The chief said that some door hinges and light bulbs had been removed at the wing, sometime since classes ended last Wednesday.

Flames licked out of windows in the one-story stucco building as firemen arrived. Marin County units, assisted by San Rafael firemen, kept the blaze from spreading to other wings, however.

Bloom estimated damage at $40,000 to the structure and $15,000 to contents, including furniture, books and classroom equipment.

Rev. John O'Conner of the Catholic Social Service said today efforts were being made to relocate facilities at the Rosa Building in Marin City; St. Isabella Church, Terra Linda; the Blessed Sacrament Church in Santa Venetia; and the Convent of the Sisters of Social Service in San Rafael. Information can be obtained by telephoning the main office in Los Ranchitos Road, he said.

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI)—Circuit Court Judge Herbert C. Paschen today granted a slight relaxation of his controversial rules governing the trial of accused mass killer Richard Speck. The trial itself was expected to begin today.

Paschen said newsmen would be allowed to identify prospective jurors who had been rejected. Previously, he had ordered that the names of all jurors—those rejected and those selected—be withheld until the verdict on Speck is in.

Daughters Of Heiress Are Missing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police say the former husband of heiress Dolly Fritz MacMasters has vanished with their two daughters, whose custody had been awarded to her.

A police inspector today called it flight "with the children despite a court order" and a possible felony child theft" pending Mrs. MacMasters' filing of a complaint with the district attorney's office.

The couple was divorced last April after slightly more than four years of marriage. They engaged in three court cases during divorce and custody proceedings.

Police said they were tod Donald A. MacMasters, 37, picked up the girls and their Swiss nurse and drove to his mother's Telegraph Hill apartment where he asked them to help carry some clothes and books into a basement.

The nurse, Mrs. Agnes Solderer, 32, told police she carried a suit case into the basement where MacMasters padlocked her in a storeroom.

Police said he then drove to Oakland International Airport where he turned in a rented car and vanished with his 15-year-old son by a previous marriage, John, and the girls—Marguerite, 4, and Isabelle, 3.

Mrs. MacMasters, 29, was placed under sedation when she returned to her home. She is the sole owner of the Huntington Hotel on Nob Hill.

MacMasters, a former antique dealer, had visiting rights with the children on alternate Sundays.

Lighting costs less today than it did in '63, because PG&E rates are lower.

While almost everything else in your cost of living has gone up in the last four years, there have been five reductions in PG&E gas and electric rates.

You're probably using more energy now because you've added new, improved lighting and a few new appliances since '63. So your PG&E bill may be higher. But lower rates keep PG&E energy the biggest bargain in your family budget.

Coup En Passant–Most Unusual Plays In Bridge

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

One of the most unusual plays in bridge is the "coup en passant," in which you win a trick when your last two cards are both losers.

The secret lies in making an opponent commit himself first.

Opening lead — ◇ J

East returns the queen of club's and South wins in his own hand since against certain defenses it is important to save entries to the dummy.

South draws one round of trumps expecting to have no trouble if the trumps break normally. When West discards a heart, South sees the danger of losing one trick in each suit.

WEST'S OPENING

South leads a diamond to the king and returns a diamond to ruff with the three of spades. Then he leads a heart since the hand will be easy if West has the ace of hearts.

ACE IS WRONG

The ace of hearts is in the wrong position also, and East captures the queen of hearts. East returns the jack of spades, and South wins with the king.

Continuing his plan, South leads a heart to dummy's king and ruffs a heart with the five of spades.

Declarer next leads the six of spades to dummy's queen, cashes the ace of clubs and then leads a diamond.

BOTH LOSERS

At this point each player has two cards. South has the seven of spades and the six of clubs, and both are losers since East has the ten of spades and the jack of clubs.

Still, East must act first. If East ruffs dummy's diamond, South discards his losing club and wins the last trick with the seven of trumps. If East fails to ruff dummy's diamond South ruffs and thus gets a trick at once with the seven of trumps.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ A K 7 6 5 3
♥ 5 3
♦ 5 2
♣ K 6 5

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

You have 10 points in high cards and one point for each doubleton. This is enough for an opening bid if you like your high-card structure and the length of your best suit. In this case your high cards are excellent (2½ quick tricks), and you have a good six-card major suit. The borderline hand is therefore worth an opening bid.

REBUILT BOAT—Marin Supervisor William A. Gnoss and Undersheriff Sidney Stinson, dark suit, were among the first passengers Saturday on the swamp buggy "Little Brother," which was returned to the Sheriff's Marine Patrol by the Air Force after an 18-month refurbishing job. Deputies Presented Rescue Boat By Unit At Hamilton

Marin County Sheriff's Marine Patrol now has a propeller-driven "swamp buggy" for rescue work in tidal waters and mud flats along the Marin coastline.

The 17-foot skiff, capable of 30 knots in the mud, was presented to Sheriff Louis Mountanos Saturday by Col. Harry W. Shoup, commander of the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton Air Force Base.

About 200 persons attended the ceremonies at the public boat launching ramp along the Petaluma River at Black Point, and the boat made its maiden voyage.

Mrs. Emmett Stevenson of Greenbrae cracked a champagne bottle over the vessel's bow and christened it "Little Brother." Stevenson, a member of the patrol, had advanced $450 to obtain the craft, which needed extensive overhauling.

Men of the 78th Field Maintenance Squadron, working voluntarily in their spare time, reconstructed the boat with salvaged parts, including a surplus engine from a light plane. It is now valued at $5,000.

M/Sgt. Vincent Till, who supervised the rebuilding job, was at the control for the first run.

Private Survey To Check Efficiency Of Government

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has announced a private survey of state government efficiency will begin immediately.

The governor's survey on efficiency and cost control will start with a study of all functions of the executive branch of state government, including Reagan's own office.

The survey will be conducted by 150 executive and management specialists during a 16-week period. They will use their own funds and manpower.

Reagan said the study is "aimed at eliminating duplication and waste as well as generally improving the operating effectiveness and efficiency in government functions."

The resources of the survey group will be offered to other branches of state government and elective offices, Reagan said.

The governor said he wants the study group to:

Recommended improvements where immediate savings can be accomplished by executive or administrative order.

Pinpoint specific areas where further in depth studies can be justified on the basis of potential savings.

Make recommendations for long-range consideration by the executive and legislative branches of state government.

When the group completes its 16-week study it will prepare a report documenting its findings and recommending areas of improvement.

Reagan said he expected to receive the report in the fall.

Minimum lot size is now 5,000 square feet, and the commission has discussed increasing it to 7,500 square feet.

The commission will also consider amendment of the subdivision ordinance to require developers to dedicate park lands, and revision of the sign ordinance.

Youths Go On Check Spree

Three Novato boys found that it was a simple matter to get money by cashing checks and also to get gasoline, all without question, Novato police reported today.

A 15-year-old boy took a credit card and two checks from his father's business, police reported. He and a 17-year-old companion cashed a $160 check at a Novato bank without being asked for identification. They were joined by a 15-year-old and the three cashed a $25 check at a market without being asked for identification, according to police.

They used the credit card to buy gasoline also, police said.

All three were cited to juvenile authorities.

The board will consider making formal policy of the district's practice of allowing students from Marin City to attend any district high school they wish, and a policy change to allow greater flexibility in scheduling at each school.

The possibility of appointing a citizens committee to study future building needs for Redwood High School will be considered.

The board will consider the resignations of Webster Wright, a counselor, and Charles A. Doll, an industrial arts teacher, both at Redwood, and will consider personnel needs for next school year.

A report will be given on district social studies programs.

Reagan Plans Huge State Tax Request

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Demands on California's hard-pressed state treasury grew today as Gov. Ronald Reagan prepared to ask for about $600 million to $700 million in higher taxes.

Aides said Reagan will present his tax program to the legislature Wednesday. Legislators returned to work today after a weekend recess.

Even while the Finance Department was making last-minute revisions in the long-awaited tax package, Reagan's fiscal problems worsened.

University of California regents, rejecting the Republican governor's request for tuition this year, said they want the Democratic - controlled legislature to vote U.C. $264 million—far more than the $196 million General Fund appropriation favored by Reagan.

Regents, however, indicated they would settle for $255 million.

Whatever they ask, it has to be added to a deficit of more than $250 million in the 1967-68 fiscal year. On top of this, Reagan wants to make up a $173 million cash shortage.

Reagan, who already has cut spending by $250 million, has warned he'll use his governor's "blue pencil" to cross out items that bring the new budget above the $4.62 billion he is asking.

Details of his tax program still aren't final. But aides said it might hit the $700 million figure, with about $160 million of it going back to the property owners in the form of reduced local property taxes.

Under one plan being considered, the state money would be given to local school districts, who would be required to lower their property taxes.

Aides say taxpayers should expect higher levies on these fields: Income, cigarettes, liquor, sales and, probably, the bank and corporations franchise tax.

Personal income taxes would be raised in the higher brackets, aides said.

They warned of political problems in pushing through the bank of corporations increase. It takes a two-thirds vote to raise the levy and Democrats control both houses of the legislature.

Death Of Blue Angel Probed

EL CENTRO (UPI) — The Navy pressed its investigation today into the fatal crash of a Blue Angels jet fighter just four days after its pilot had joined the famed aerial acrobatic unit.

Marine Capt. Ronald F. Thomson, 28, was killed Saturday when his F11-A disintegrated when it plunged into the desert 18 miles northwest of the Naval air facility here.

Since last September the Blue Angels have suffered three fatal accidents and an elite Air Force flying team, the Thunderbirds, lost two pilots last November when two F-100 Supersabre jets collided over the Nevada Desert.

New Discovery Now Makes It Possible to Shrink And Heal Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Stops Itch — Relieves Pain In Minutes

New York, N. Y. (Special): A world-famous institute has discovered a new substance which has the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. The sufferer first notices almost unbelievable relief in minutes from itching, burning and pain. Then this substance speeds up healing of the injured tissues all while it quickly reduces painful swelling.

Tests conducted under a doctor's observations proved this so — even in cases of 10 to 20 years' standing. The secret is the new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — now offered in both ointment or suppository form called Preparation H®.

In addition to actually shrinking piles — Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements less painful. It helps to prevent infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).

Only Preparation H contains this magic new substance which quickly helps heal injured cells back to normal and stimulates regrowth of healthy tissue again. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories (easier to use away from home). Available at all drug counters.

Experienced Galley Cooks Share Tips

By BETTY FROST

Whether a day's excursion on the Bay is planned or a long deep water voyage, people do get hungry on boats. Six experienced galley cooks shared their techniques for provisioning, storing, cooking and serving food on the briny with members and guests of the Women's Auxiliary of the Corinthian Yacht Club on Thursday.

Mrs. Robert Van Blaricom, who sailed with her husband on a seven month cruise from London to Sausalito, told of shopping in London for staples — canned meats, vegetables, fruits and soups, dry goods like pancake and biscuit mix, rice, flour, crackers, and coffee, fresh produce that would keep like potatoes and carrots, and —would you believe?—20 dozen eggs.

Storing of supplies involved a lot more than putting them neatly on a shelf. Labels of cans had to be removed, the cans marked and varnished, because they would be stored below the floorboards in the 40 foot cutter Amorel and liable to become damp during the long cruise. Dry goods were stored high. Eggs were boiled for five seconds, then coated with vaseline to protect against spoilage.

Jane Van Blaricom didn't want to be a full-time sea cook, so the four aboard took turns in the galley, with Jane sharing the watch duty with the others on the crew.

On the Amorel they made no effort to keep ice, and stored mainly canned goods. A large variety of herbs, spices, wines and dried or canned mushrooms helped to make the meals more interesting. They found meats in foreign ports were tough, but excellent bread, fruits and vegetables usually available.

THE EXPERIENCES of Mrs. Sidney Messer, who sailed on the "Sadie" from New York through the Panama Canal and back to the Bay, were quite similar. She advised taking along a market basket for grocery purchases in foreign ports, as there is seldom any packaging.

Mrs. Stuart Riddell had done very little cooking before the voyage she took several years ago from Vancouver to Aukland, New Zealand and back. On the long sea journey she learned fast, cooking for six husky crewmen. Now Emily cooks for her husband on their 50 foot steel ketch "Romane." Like many who cruise the local waters, they rely on a hibachi for barbecuing meat and poultry, preferring a gimbaled model with lid and hanging bracket for boat use.

Mrs. Riddel shares her recipe:

Barbecue Basting Sauce a la Romane

1 T. Sugar
1 T. vinegar
2 T. Worcestershire Sauce
1 T. Soy Sauce
¼ C. Catsup

Use for chicken or spareribs. Baste with sauce, using pastry brush, wrap three pieces of chicken or section of ribs in foil, seal tightly. Cook over hot fire on hibachi for one-half hour, turning every eight minutes. Finish by removing meat

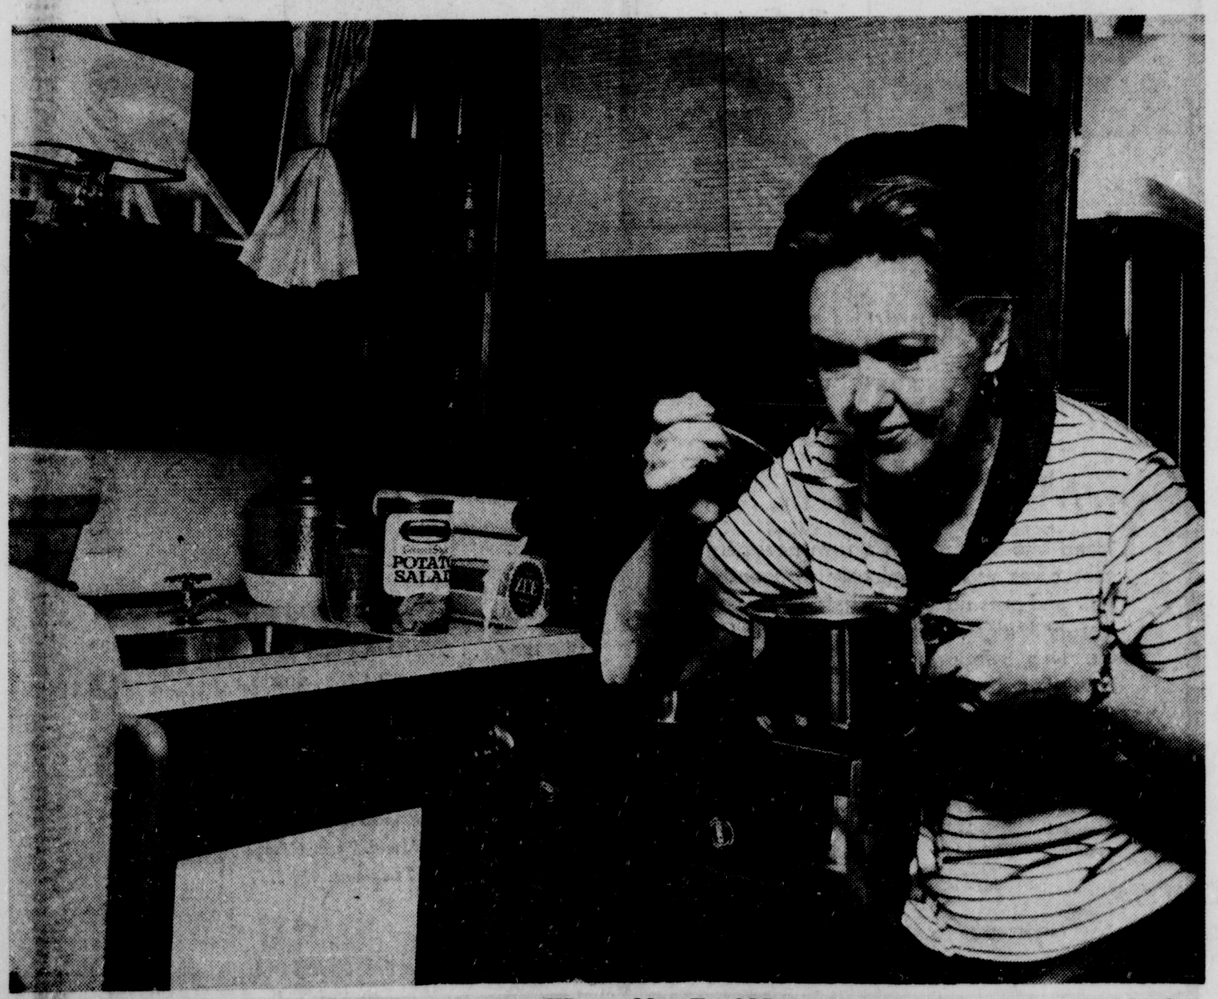
MRS. STUART RIDDELL serves Mrs. William H. Goss on board the Orion III. Plastic dishes with a nautical motif are pretty and practical. The women are members of the panel who shared seagoing culinary tricks at the program "Revelations of Six Galley Cooks" at the Corinthian Yacht Club. Mrs. Riddell, a deep water sailor, has voyaged from Vancouver, B.C. to Aukland, New Zealand and back. Mrs. Goss provisions the family's 45-foot ketch, Lavengro, for day sailing and cruises on the bay.

LISTENING INTENTLY as Mrs. Robert Van Blaricom describes her food shopping experiences in London, are yachtswomen at the Corinthian Yacht Club on Thursday.



ABOARD THE FAMILY power boat Orion III, Mrs. Fred Mather tests a savory dish cooked in the compact galley of the 37-foot yacht.

DOING THE DISHES the nautical way is Mrs. A. Robert Fisher of the Women's Auxiliary of the Corinthian Yacht Club. One deep plastic container is filled with soapy water, the other hot rinse water. This is typical of K.P. board the Hai Shih, a 35-foot Lion class yacht owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Boyce-Smith.

MRS. JOHN BOYCE-SMITH pours coffee for Mrs. L. B. Everett Jr. and Mrs. A. Robert Fisher at the hinged table in the Hai Shih's cabin. The yacht was built for the Boyce-Smiths in Hong Kong. The three are members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Corinthian Yacht Club. (Independent-journal photos by Jim Kean)

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Mother Is Worried Because Her Daughter Plans $1,500 Wedding

DEAR HELEN:

After many years of scrimping, my husband and I managed to save $2,000. However, our daughter is planning to be married soon and the kind of wedding she wants costs $1,500 or more.

She has only saved enough for the wedding outfit. She pays us $10 a week from her wages for room and board, but we can't save much of that.

She is our only daughter and we want the best for her. But we're over 50, and can never replace the money.

What do you think? — WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

I think big weddings are in extremely bad taste when given by people who can't afford them. If your daughter insists, she has a selfish streak wide enough to make her future husband apprehensive.

Use $1,800 for a second honeymoon for yourselves, or something equally important. The remaining $200 should finance a simple wedding with enough left over to buy a fine gift.

Since when does a couple need an extravagant send-off when a few words in a pastor's study make the marriage just as bindings? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My "wonderful" neighbor is mad at me because she is nosy. I was supposed to take her someplace, but I let on I didn't have the car. She had the nerve to walk over and look in my garage. When she saw the car there, she told everyone what a skunk I was. Everyone has told me. Isn't she as much to blame as me — she sneaked over and spied. — S.N.

P.S. We were such good friends, before.

DEAR S:

You fibbed, she sneaked. So you're even. And the gossiping has no doubt been exaggerated. Send over a small flag of truce (made from a toothpick and a square of white cloth) on a cake, and get on with your friendship. Life's too short for feuding. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

How can you tactfully tell a sister-in-law you no longer wish to exchange gifts? I hinted that because of inflated prices, high cost of mailing, etc., we should end the Christmas gift business.

This brought on the wrath of the century. We are selfish, we didn't love her and her family, we had no true Christmas spirit, etc. Others in our group gladly went along with our suggestion. In fact, our dearest relatives and friends are those we don't exchange with.

Perhaps the things that irk me most are what she sends:

My husband — wool sweater. She knows he's allergic to wool.

Our 11-year-old daughter — a size 9 swimsuit. She buys items on summer-merchandise sales, so they can't be returned.

Our 13-year-old daughter: a red, red lipstick!

Our 17-year-old son: a shirt that is a monstrosity.

My gift: a sheer nighty that would be worn only in a condemned movie.

So we have two problems: gifts we can't use, and an obligation to buy gifts we can't really afford. Help!—P.C.

DEAR P:

Don't hint — tell this gal you plan a non-commercial Christmas — no gifts but lots of good will. If she continues sending her packages, she either has the true spirit of Christmas giving, or she's trying to shame you. Thank her kindly, but don't cave in.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Patricia Ness Recites Vows In San Francisco

Patricia Ness, a teacher at Deer Park School in Fairfax, became the bride of Clyde Krusinski on Saturday afternoon at Corpus Christi Church in San Francisco.

Given in marriage by her father, Dr. Frederick R. Ness, she wore a lace A-line gown with organdy train. Rowena Ness was maid of honor for her sister, and Vera Sidorov of San Francisco and Carole Brown of Concord were the other attendants. They wore linen princess style gowns with aqua satin trim.

Frank Williams of San Rafael was the best man and ushers were Robert Ness of San Diego, the bride's brother; John Walsh of Sunnyvale, and William Daskarolis of San Francisco.

A reception was held at Forest Hill clubhouse and the couple left on a wedding trip to Hawaii. The newlyweds will live in Greenbrae.

The bride is a George Washington High School and San Francisco State College graduate and received a teaching credential from San Francisco State College. He is a teacher at Polytechnic High School, San Francisco.

Galley Cooks Present Ideas For Serving Meals Afloat

from foil and browning with more sauce brushed on as it browns. The meat can be pre-wrapped in foil with sauce to marinade and be ready for the next day's sail.

MRS. SIDNEY CHAPIN is chief cook on the family's 30 foot motor-sailer "Mi Tesoro," on which they enjoy cruising the delta area. Her "River Cruise Dinner Plan" is to pre-cook a large pot roast, which is served warm with gravy and vegetables the first night out. The second night she cuts the meat in small pieces, adds gravy and canned vegetables and left-over potatoes. By adding vegetables and broth to the minced meat and left over vegetables and gravy, she creates a minestrone for the third night of the excursion. She also recommends for a one-dish meal, "Joe's Special," a combination of spinach, ground beef and eggs.

EQUIPMENT ON THE "Mi Tesoro" is a two burner kerosene stove, a battery powered ice box, used for making ice cubes and chilling juice, and a styrofoam ice chest. Two quart size thermos bottles are kept filled with hot water for instant coffee, and soups.

Mrs. William Goss presides over the galley aboard the 45 foot ketch "Lavengro." One of her specialties is Breakfast on One Burner: Canned corn beef with a spooned-out hollow for each egg. Cover and allow to steam.

Another favorite is her Jambalaya:

1 cup minute rice
1 can shrimp
1 can crab
½ cup chopped fresh celery
½ cup chopped onion
1 can celery soup
2 T margarine.

Saute vegetables in margarine. Prepare rice according to directions, let stand, while remaining ingredients are added to sauted vegetables. Mix all together. Warm through and season according to taste with salt, pepper and curry. Serve with crackers and salad.

Sixth member of the panel, Mrs. Frank Sullivan, auxiliary president, acted as moderator.

ALL AGREED THAT good planning is essential for happy meals on the water. For short excursions as much as possible should be done at home and taken aboard ready to heat or eat. It is important to conserve fuel on the small stoves common on pleasure craft.

But the most important thing is to conserve space. Careful stowing of supplies well out of the way of the yacht's working gear is definitely recommended.

2,000 See Cats At Marin Show

Cats from as nearby as Larkspur and as far away as Michigan shared top honors at the Marin County Cat Fanciers' 15th annual show yesterday and Saturday in Sausalito.

More than 2,000 persons attended the weekend event in the IDESST Hall, to see nearly 150 cats and kittens on exhibition and in competition. Proceeds go to the Marin County Humane Society's development fund.

BEST IN SHOW

Winner of the title "best in show" in both all-breed competitions was a cream male Persian, Ch. Zoda Bonanza, owned by Mrs. Zoe R. McEachern of Oakland.

Best cat in the short hair specialty was Gr. Ch. Mai Hai Demitasse, a female Burmese owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Erhart of Monterey Park. This winningest cat of the weekend also was judged second best cat in show and best cat in show, opposite sex, in both the all-breeds.

Best in show, opposite sex, in the shorthair specialty was Gr. Ch. Seit of D'Nel, an Abyssinian male owned by Mrs. Eleanor Lucas of Sacramento. Second best cat was Gr. Ch. Catana Frostoria, a lilac point female Siamese sent to the show from Clearborn, Mich., where she is owned by Sandra S. Mitchell.

CREAM PERSIAN

Gr. Ch. Hayward's Golden Jubilee, a cream Persian male owned by Mrs. Isabel Meader of Hayward, was best in show in the longhair specialty. The other two top wins in this competition went to Marin cats: Shebs Marco Polo of Kuwa, shaded red Persian male owned by Juanita Pinckert, Larkspur, best in show, opposite sex, and El Sombro de Pelo Largo, black Persian male owned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Siefer, San Anselmo, second best cat.

All-breed judges were Miss Stella Harlos of Milwaukee and Mrs. Walker K. Johnston of San Diego, while Mrs. Arno Beck of Chicago judged both specialties.

MUSIC REVIEW

Marin Arts Quartet Excels Once Again

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Concerts of the Marin Arts Quartet tend to vary only in degrees of excellence, and yesterday afternoon's second program in its 10th season was one of its finest.

Marin music lovers are apparently discovering this, for audiences for these Sunday afternoon concerts at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley continue to grow. Most seats were filled yesterday.

Regular members of the group — violinist Charles Meacham, cellist Jean Mitchell and violist Elizabeth Bell — were joined for this concert by pianist Robaline Meacham, not as an accompanist but a full partner in the four-voiced chamber music.

FINE BALANCE

In fact, her pianism in the opening Mozart Quartet No. 2 in E Flat Major, K 493 and Faure's Quartet No. 2 in G. Minor, Opus 45, was positively brilliant without upsetting the fine balance of the quartet.

One of the major virtues of the quartet is its mastery of widely differing styles, and programs are always chosen with careful attention to providing variety.

Yesterday's concert was outstanding in this respect, and yet it had unity too, for the Faure Quartet with its exquisite melodies of powerful romantic appeal still had a classic clarity and grace reminiscent of the Mozart. And it had a harmonic originality and modern sound that was a harbinger of the contemporary idiom heard in the second number, duo for violin and viola by Nikos Skalkottas.

Our personal favorite was the Faure, which had both ineffable delicacy and great strength. In it the four members of the quartet performed with consummate artistry, both as mutually responsive and fully integrated members of the ensemble and in solo capacity. It was the epitome of the French elegance for which Faure is noted.

DASH OF SPICE

The dash of spice in the program—astringent but titillating — was the unaccompanied duo for violin and viola by the Greek composer Skalkottas, who had been a pupil of Schoenberg. Written largely in the 12-tone idiom, it demanded considerable virtuosity on the part of Elizabeth Bell and Meacham. It was a pleasure to hear just how accomplished Miss Bell is, an opportunity not often accorded an inner voice of a quartet.

Last to be mentioned but first on the program and far from least in excellence was a sparklingly clean and precise yet sensitive reading of the Mozart Quartet No. 2. It was Mozart as Mozart should be played.

Car In Ditch Off Shoreline Snarls Traffic

A car in a ditch off Shoreline Highway a half mile south of Panoramic Highway yesterday afternoon snarled unusually heavy Sunday traffic for about 45 minutes, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Bridget Connelly, 21, of San Francisco, who had been driving only about six months, ran her car off a curve at 1:30 p.m., the patrol reported. It hit the bank and swerved across the road into a gully.

The driver escaped unhurt. Her passenger, Theresa Connelly, 19, of San Francisco, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a scalp cut.

But the car in the ditch attracted gazes of Sunday drivers and resulted in a 45-minute tie-up. And because of the heavy traffic, the Connelly car was left in the ditch to be towed away today.

HYDRANT SNAPPED BY CAR

San Rafael Fireman Wayne Kovacs turns off water spouting from hydrant at Fourth and Court Streets after car, out of control at 4 a.m. yesterday, careened onto sidewalk and bowled over the hydrant, a mail box, a street sign and two potted trees. The car escaped from police. (Independent-Journal photo)

Probation Given In Manslaughter

Mrs. Mary Eckman, 42, was placed on three years probation in Marin Superior Court today for voluntary manslaughter in the death last July 8 of her husband, William F. Eckman, 47-year-old laborer. She had pleaded guilty.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, who noted that circumstances in the death were accidental in a moral if not legal sense, imposed no jail term.

Mrs. Eckman originally was accused of murder in the knife-stabbing death of Eckman at their home at 520 C Street, San Rafael, following an evening od frinking.

She entered the guilty plea to the reduced charge Jan. 9 after withdrawing pleas of innocent nnd innocent by reason of insanity.

Numbering Of Houses Gets Tangled

The problem of house numbers in Tamalpais and Homestead Valleys got more and more confused at a hearing today before the County Planning Commission.

When it entered the field of philosophy, commission chairman Margaret Azevedo called a halt.

It was commissioner Hugh Dougherty who raised the philosophy issue. He noticed that the Tamalpais Valley Fire Department's plea for three-diget numbers, with the first number indicating a zone, was in conflict with the wishes of many home owners. "The question is which philosophy you want to follow," he said.

"In Philosophy 5A at the University of California, we never got into house numbers," Mrs. Azevedo said.

She appointed herself and Dougherty to a committee to try to resolve the matter prior to March 20, when it will be back on the commission agenda.

Walter McDonald of 10 Circle Way, urged some decision. He said the Post Office has him living at 110 Circle Way, while his driver's license has him at 10 Circle Way. He was concerned about legal problems.

Tachometer Stolen

William F. Carroll, 3369 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, reported Saturday to Tiburon Sheriff's deputies that a tachometer valued at $40 was taken from his Volkswagen the previous night.

Jail Term For Fatal Child Beating

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court today gave Eugene O. Boehm, 21, a year in county jail and a suspended state prison term for a fatal child beating.

He also placed Boehm on intensive and supervised probation for five years, but scheduled possible modification of the jail term and probation in six months.

In pronouncing judgment, the magistrate commented that responsibility for the actions which brought about the Aug. 18 death of 16-month-old Timothy Wayne Buckley, son of Boehm's common-law wife, Mrs. Roberta Marie Buckley, was "clouded."

Boehm, a furniture-finisher, pleaded guilty Jan. 3 to child-beating. A charge of murder was dismissed following that plea.

The victim died in Marin General Hosptial of beating injuries which an attending physician described the worst of that kind he had ever seen. The beating allegedly occurred at 70 Lucky Drice, Greenbraek, where Boehm, Mrs. Buckley, and the child lived.

Body With Shattered Skull Found

A Fair Oaks family out digging clams on the beach at Tomales Point Saturday stumbled across the badly decomposed body of a man half buried in the sand.

The body, which was only partly clothed, remained unidentified today, reported County Coroner Donovan O. Cooke.

Pockets of a pair of corduory pants were empty, he said, and the skull was badly shattered.

Tam Valley Owners Hit Zone Proposal

A proposal to do away with most of the commercial zoning, and reduce the density of multiple zoning in the vicinity of Pinehill Road and Shoreline Highway in Tamalpais Valley hit strong protest from property owners before the County Planning Commission today.

The changes were recommended by the county planning staff in an attempt to bring the zones closer in line with uses indicated in the Tamalpais Valley Master Plan.

ZONING CRITIC

Mary Howell, with a lot opposite Pinehill and Woodside Avenue, saw it differently. She said a change from multiple to single-family residential would "take money out of my pocket." She said she had put her life savings into the lot and reduction in use would cut the price in half.

Richard Heller had the same complaint about his lot at Browning Street and Shasta Way. "I'm going to lose my tail on this," he told the commission.

The Tamalpais Valley Master Plan envisions no commercial zoning. The county planning staff recommended that all commercial zones on the north and south side of Shoreline be changed to multiple residential with exception of two lots on the corners of Poplar Street and Shoreline.

MULTIPLE ZONING

The Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club recommended that all multiple zoning in the area be changed to single family-zoning but that commercial zoning on the south side of Shoreline be retained for neighborhood shopping.

Rhese differences of opinion were aired for nearly two hours before the commission agreed to continue the hearing until March 20, hoping that the various interests can get together in the meanwhile.

Continued until March 6 were proposed changes of commercial zones at Stadium Avenue and Almonte Boulevard to residential zones.

Commissioners Michael Praszker and Niels Schultz Jr. were absent for the morning session.

Portable Rooms On Board Agenda

The Novato Unified School District Board will receive bids for portable classrooms when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the administration building.

The board will also approve a bond redemption schedule, and consider application for National Defense Education Act funds for guidance and counseling.

Clara Evans Receives Conservation Award

Clara Evans, director of the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum in San Rafael, received the "Conservationist of the Year" award at the annual dinner Saturday of the Conservation Council of Marin.

The Leonard A. Thomas Memorial Award to the county official who did the most for conservation last year went to Supervisor Peter H. Behr of Mill Valley.

In a keynote address, the chairman of the Assembly resources committee predicted a prosperous future for conservation in California.

Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg said there is hope that "we will begin to achieve a more rational approach toward planning our environment and using our remaining natural resources more wisely."

The Sacramento Democrat noted an increasing "public anger" and awareness in what's happening to the lakes, rivers, mountains, fields and forests.

He also said there is an increased impact on the legislation in response to public demands and a "weakening in the traditional stranglehold of the special interest lobbies."

Praising the state's Planning and Conservation League, a coalition of conservation-minded groups and citizens, Z'Berg said:

"If this citizen-based movement continues to grow and gather strength, the long-standing collusion of politics, business and public indifferences will slowly but surely begin to crumble."

Z'berg predicted major programs on recreation will be presented to the present and subsequent legislatures. He said a report from his Committee on Natural Resources, Planning and Public Works on conservation will be released for several weeks.

The assemblyman said, however, it was too early to tell how the Reagan Administration will deal with conservation problems.

Store Owner Answers ABC Charges

San Rafael delicatessen owner Harry Diller appeared before an Alcoholic Beverage Control Department hearing at the Civic Center today to answer the charge of state investigators that they found an opened bottle of bourbon whisky amid salads and coldcuts in his Fourth Street store last Nov. 5.

Cecil E. Brown, investigating officer for the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, said he and investigator Robert Lynn went into the delicatessen to buy a sandwich and he immediately noticed a bourbon bottle in the counter showcase.

Diller told him he had been ill and had brought the bourbon to work for "pick-me-up," said Brown. The delicatessen has a beer and wine license.

The case was taken under submission by hearing officer Paul E. Winton.

Coats Taken

Arthur D. Talbot of 6 Warren Court, Tiburon, reported Saturday that someone entered his house between 11 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. and took a gold-framed photograph of his daughter and two women's cloth coats, according to Tiburon sheriff's deputies.

'Unfortunate' Action On Rec Budget

Chairman Irving Moulin of the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission today called it an "unfortunate misunderstanding" that the commission adopted its budget recommendation at an unannounced meeting last Thursday night.

Mrs. Polly Smith, a commissioner who acted as secretary at the meeting, said it was up to Tiburon City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose to send out public notice.

"All our meetings have been open to the public," Mrs. Smith declared.

However, Moulin conceded that he told Secretary Luois F. Brunini and Mrs. Virginia Sheaffer, the regular minutes clerk, they would not be needed at the meeting. Brunini said he was told it was a "study session," with no action to be taken.

The principal action taken was adoption of an $18,500 budget request. Mrs. Smith said this had to be done before the end of February.

Other action taken was passage of a resolution opposing city takeover of a green belt area in El Marinero subdivision, which the commission held it unfit for public use.

Guidelines for creating a park system in Tiburon were also set.

All these will not go to the city council, which can decide whether or not it should act on them in view of the questionalble legality of the meeting.

Deputies Quick To Recover Auto

Marin County sheriff's deputies Saturday recovered a stolen car 30 minutes after its theft was reported.

At 11 a.m. Eleanor G. Berreman of House M-68 ,Hilarita Housing, reported to the Tiburon sheriff's sub-station that her 1950 Pontiac sedan had been stolen from in front of her residence. At 11:30 a.m., sheriff's deputies found it in a parking lot in Marin City.

Materials Taken

Painting materials valued at $1,610 were taken from a storage garage at the Simmons Paint and Paper Contractors Co., 2166 Redwood Highway, Larkspur, Wednesday night, according to Larkspur police. The burglar pried a lock off the garage door, police said.

Naked Figures Drawing Creates Stir At School

A pair of naked nymphs embracing on a dance advertisement inserted in last Friday's edition of San Rafael High School's student newspaper, Red and White, has aroused complaints from parents and teachers.

Principal Alan Ellsberg said today he had received complaints from parents and teachers and thinks the advertisement can be considered "questionable."

The six-by-four inch yellow insert advertises dance concerts Friday and Saturday at the Santa Venetia Armory, a production by "Buddha," a bearded Fairfax hippie who usually appears at area happenings preaching love.

Complaints were about the picture of two orange nymphs embracing, the "love through truth is the only way" copy on the reverse side of the insert, the litter on the high school campus from the discarded ads, and the dance itself.

Ellsberg said the faculty "journalism staff" made the decision to accept the dance advertisement, and it was distributed as an insert so it could be in color.

The Red and White is produced by the school's journalism classes, instructed by Daniel Langton.

"We're going to be discussing it later," said Ellsberg, "to decide in the future what our action on this type of material should be. Some feel the dance itself might not be wholesome activity for high school students."

Jury Trial Scheduled

Jury trial for one of two county jail escapees and alleged kidnapers, Lewis Barton Pettijohn Jr., 33, was scheduled today in Marin Superior Court for April 17. It is expected to take a week.

The co-defendant, Ronald Harold Berg, 21, made a motion last Dec. 19 that he is mentally unable to cooperate with his attorney, Theodore C. Lachelt of San Rafael, and cannot stand trial. Proceedings against him have been suspended pending receipt of reports by two court-appointed psychiatrists. His next hearing will be at 9:30 a.m. next Monday.

The two are accused of escape Nov. 23, and kidnaping and robbing cab driver Bruce Hall, 35, of Forest Knolls during their flight from the jail. The are also accused of kidnaping and robbing Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Jorgensen and their son, Larry, at 510 Fawn Drive, Sleepy Hollow, prior to being recaptured.

Berg is serving five years to life in state prison for the Aug. 17 armed robbery of Edgewater Inn Motel in Corte Madera. Pettijohn is in county jail pending the trial. He also faces a March 13 felony trial for allegedly passing a worthless check on June 4, 1964.

Close The Gap Between Principle And Practice

Skeptics and cynics may sneer at National Brotherhood Week as a useless exercise in glad-handing and sloganeering that fails to meet our human relations needs.

But we welcome the opportunity that Brotherhood Week provides to take stock of our accomplishments and failures and to rededicate ourselves to the principle that all Americans should be treated equally as citizens and as brothers in this shrinking world community.

Brotherhood Week is sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews to combat bigotry, to strengthen national unity and build inter-religious and inter-racial understanding.

Along with progress toward those goals, there have been some setbacks. Each act of violence, whether perpetrated by racists or bigots, adds another black mark to this democracy.

California has had its share of violence and rioting. Even a tolerant county like Marin has experienced animosity and friction, with racial overtones.

But thus far, through county leadership and sane action by the majority of its citizens, Marin has been able to maintain law and order. Public and private organizations are continually working to hold friction to a minimum and to safeguard the rights of all races in business, employment and in community life.

Legislation is being introduced by lawmakers in both the national and state levels to further human rights.

Progress in such fields as fair housing has suffered setbacks on occasion, but we can find encouragement in the efforts now being made to salvage fair housing provisions.

In his Brotherhood Week proclamation, President Johnson spoke of the gap that exists between principle and practice. "It is our task—and our responsiblity—to make certain that the gap is closed."

Brotherhood Week provides the opportunity to see where those gaps exist. Then, for the remaining 51 weeks of the year, we can join the National Conference of Christians and Jews in helping to close those gaps.

Ever See This Bird?

If you are a bird lover, perhaps you have seen this one? A lady who puts oatmeal on her feeder, says this very unusual bird frequently frightens the others away and greedily partakes of the food.

It is described as having grey fur, brown ears, large, dark eyes and a long bushy tail. Anyone knowing the identity of this strange, big bird is requested to contact the Supervisor of Bird Identification, Bird Division, Animal Census Bureau, Room B-4, Fourth Sub-basement in the Marin Civic Center.

California Disturbed By Loss Of Federal Highway Financing

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — It seems now that almost everyone is waxing prolific with arguments to have federal funds restored to California's highway program.

Gov. Ronald Reagan is disturbed over planned cut-backs of the federal interstate highway program, in view of the tremendous need for freeway construction throughout the state.

Assemblymen and senators are climbing on the bandwagon with claims the state stands to lose some $70 million this year alone, and there is the possibility of an additional loss of from $35 to $40 million annually.

THE ARGUMENT also is made that California has sent more highway-user money through federal channels than has been returned to California for road construction, and that the proposed cut-back would compound a gross inequity which has existed for some time in the past.

In fact, one state senator, James E. Whetmore, R-Fullerton, says he is not prepared to accept the excuse that the proposed cut-backs are needed to halt inflation, and assist the conduct of the war in Vietnam.

"One cannot ignore," says Whetmore, "the specter of political retribution, however remote this may be, as it is a political fact of life that the Johnson administration certainly owes nothing to the people of California after what transpired at the polls last November."

THERE ARE a few other facts of life which necessarily need consideration.

One is that once a federal tax, such as the highway users tax, is imposed on the people, the funds derived from the tax are for the exclusive distribution of the federal government. The states gave up their right to handle their own highway problems. One reason for the tax was to provide more road construction in those states unable financially to handle their own problems.

THE HIGHWAY USER tax situation is like the federal unemployment insurance tax. For more than 30 years, the business interests in California have been contributing more to this administration fund than the department of employment has been getting back for administrative purposes. Some other states receive more than business contributes.

Thus, the various states are beginning to reap the rewards of turning over a state function to the whims and foibles of bureaucratic government and the pleasure of Congress. In relinquishing such functions, the states can do little better than enter the picture as beggars in attempts to restore and regain what they previously bequeathed for the benefit of the less fortunate, or more affluent.

WHILE THERE may be some moral responsibility for the federal government to return to the individual state what it contributes, or at least a greater part, there is no legal responsibility at all. Federal decisions are final unless sufficient pressures can be brought to bear, and even then, the outcomes are dubious.

Also, the federal government may run out of money sometime, and a retrenchment effort can't be said to be too far out of line.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Marin County's Grand Jury asked supervisors to pass a resolution that any book considered subversive "shall not be made available to students" in public schools in the county.

Arsonists were blamed for a fire which destroyed the historic 18-room Hotaling mansion in Sleepy Hollow, a society mecca of the past.

20 YEARS AGO

Two hundred and ninety-five civilan employees at Hamilton Air Force Base were laid off as part of a nationwide Air Force economy program.

The Marin County Veterans Service Office reported that it interviewed 7,783 veterans, an average of 24 a day, in its first year of operation.

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. asked the state Public Utilities Commission for its first boost in Marin rates in 28 years.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Painters Protest Scott's Dual Hats

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We the undersigned House Painters in good standing of Local Union No. 83 have a problem.

George Scott of our membership retired, receiving as a gift an automobile. He also receives a maximum Painters pension. He entered a new field and now serves as vice president and director of the Tamalpais Savings and Loan Assn. He may be seen there five days every week.

We would wish him well if he stayed there. However he returned to our local union where he was appointed by the chair as an officer and now attends our meetings which are held in the evenings and tries to rule our local union with an "Iron Hand."

We think this is immoral and wrong.

We ctie as one of the many precedents and guide lines that have come marching down the years the case of Hugh Cassidy who has just ended 15 years of Marin Labor leadership, and who when appointed to a civil job stated publicly in the North Bay Labor Journal Dec. 26, 1966, and we quote: "It was perhaps inappropriate for him to continue to serve as a labor spokesman under the circumstances."

We believe in George Scott's case he cannot serve two masters. We believe a man cannot be a labor leader and a businessman. We believe a man can't walk both sides of the street at the same time.

We invite the public to use "What Our Readers Say" in the I-J as a forum to resolve our problem. Regardless of views or walk in life, we would like the public to send in replies to this column.

By so doing we are hoping that public pressure will force him into permanent retirement from our local union.

Brown's Promises, Reagan's Results

Editor, Independent-Journal:

With plans to write for sometime now, how opportune, after reading letters by Laura Nelson Baker and Eric W. Lane.

The halo Brown wears would not have to slip much to become a noose around his neck!

He had eight years to do the things he promised during his last two weeks of his campaign.

Now our new governor is doing just what he promised and is making all of us groan. . . . But we are getting results, not promises!

I also groan for those who were asked to give up their holidays — I get eight holidays a year and Lincoln's Birthday is not one of them! How often have we gone into a governmental office and been greeted with indifference and arrogance. . . .

Will someone volunteer the information as to how many paid holidays our state empolyees have?

Now Laura N. Baker would see governmental buildings built by state hired architects, or does she mean those on state payroll? — appointed or selected through civil service — Or those who bid on the contract from outside?

I'll go along with her in wanting to see state architects design state buildings. But why a new architect for each school? Why a new design for each one? . . . A standard design (a good one) for all school districts, county, city or state, and no matter where a student goes — no matter who he is — he goes to the finest the state can afford!

A college or university to my knowledge is a temple of learning. Why then are the students, those desirous of a higher education, subject to the harangue of the unappreciative and unwashed — many who would better spend their time at a barber college.

These are some of the people a sales tax will reach — to relieve the burden of those who are paying a property tax — many of whom have no children of their own and who resent the way their taxes are being spent. Let's have better instructors who are worthy of their hire — not for five hours a week but full time!

I hope Governor Reagan cleans house, drops the dead wood, and I hope he does keep a record of those who did work on Lincoln's Birthday, a record of those worthy of better jobs when such opportunity arises. A blue collar worker . . .

Citizen Corrects San Anselmo Report

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would appreciate your printing two corrections, in these columns, of your Feb. 15 front page story headlined, "Hub Council Sets $150 Salary."

According to the first misquotation, when Councilman Ragan said that councilmen deserve some compensation for their time, I replied, "Anyone who had sat through one of these meetings would say you didn't deserve a salary." I did not say this.

In fact, I replied, "I don't think that anyone who has sat all the way through one of these meetings would say you don't deserve a salary."

Also, according to the story, I suggested a salary of $25 a meeting with a maximum of $75 a month.

In fact, I argued against any salary at all on the practical basis that this old city has so many crying needs. I pointed out, in this context, that some places in the city do not have the fire hydrants which the city fire chief says are necessary for adequate protection, and that even $50 a month for one councilman would add up, in a year, to the $600 necessary to install one fire hydrant.

The point of my argument was that San Anselmo's income as a city does not yet suffice to meet its most pressing needs, and that salaries for councilmen must wait until this income does suffice. I would not speak disrespectfully to our councilmen, no matter how much I disagreed with them and whether or not I lost the argument, because I appreciate the time and thought they do give to community needs.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THEY SAY that the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce was hard put to come up with some particularly special event for a sesquicentennial celebration that would have built-in crowd appeal. The beer company solved the problem by suggesting a long-distance canoe race. The committee chairman later was asked, "What made you select this idea from the hundred others under consideration?" The chairman explained, "It was like football strategy. When in doubt, PUNT."

AT A MEMORABLE performance of one of the Ziegfild Follies, Colonel Lindbergh, fresh from his triumphant solo flight to Paris, was introduced to the cheering audience. Will Rogers, sauntering onstage immediately following, announced, "You don't catch me doing my regular monologue after a scene like that. I will now recite the Gettysburg Address."

Conflicting Polls Show GOP Likely To Have Open Convention

WASHINGTON — The latest opinion polls on the strength of Governor Romney and Richard Nixon cast useful light on how the 1968 Republican Presidential nomination is shaping up.

1. They support Nixon's prediction that the nomination will not be locked up before the convention as it was in 1964.

2. They suggest that next year the GOP will face the same kind of choice it had to make between Robert Taft and General Eisenhower in 1952, that is, whether to nominate the favorite of the party professionals (Taft) or the favorite of the nation's voters (Eisenhower). The way things are now going, the choice in these terms would be between Nixon and Romney.

3. The very fact that the Harris survey shows that more Republicans and independents favor Romney (41 per cent) to Nixon (28 per cent) and that the Gallup poll shows that more Republicans and independents favor Nixon (47 per cent) to Romney (41 per cent). This increases the prospect that both will have to enter the Presidential primaries to demonstrate their appeal to GOP voters.

THERE IS the unfounded suggestion that Nixon hurt his own chances by helping such Republican leaders as Romney, Rockefeller, Rhodes, Reagan, Percy, and Hatfield, any of whom could become competitors with him for the Presidential nomination. But Nixon knows that with more candidates in the race the less likely Romney will be able to get too far ahead in advance of the convention. And he also knows that the more favorite-son Governors, the greater the likelihood of an open, uncommitted convention.

Nixon discounts the prospect of a moderate-liberal bloc uniting behind Romney in an interview in the Saturday Evening Post in which he says:

"The chance of that happening was considerable when it appeared there weren't many big winners in the party. Now they're not going to stand aside . . . I expect a wide-open convention in '68 with more than two candidates. Lots of favorite sons who stick in there. A convention with several ballots. We haven't had an exciting convention since 1952. Next time nobody will have this thing locked up."

It is a little surprising to see Nixon going out of his way to build up Gov. Nelson Rockefeller as a 1968 Presidential candidate, particularly in view of the fact that Rockefeller told the voters of his state last fall that he was not going to seek higher office. But this is what Nixon says:

"Rockefeller is not out of it, either. It's my theory that the Governor of a major state is always a potential national candidate. The fact he won against great odds makes that more so. It's up to him. Rockefeller can be a stronger candidate than he was in 1964."

I am sure Nixon is saying what he thinks, but in publicly boosting Rockefeller he is, in Rockefeller's judgment, making it more difficult for the moderate-liberal Republicans to unify behind Romney. Rocky contends that all talk about him as a '68 candidate is "divisive" and he says he wants none of it.

ON BALANCE the Harris and Gallup polls add to the present strength of Romney. While they differ over whether more Republicans favor Romney or Nixon at this point, they agree on most other points.

Harris shows that in an election today Romney would defeat President Johnson 53 per cent to 47 per cent and that Nixon would lose to Johnson 43 per cent to 57 per cent.

Gallup shows Romney running ahead of Johnson by 54 per cent to 46 per cent. It hasn't yet reported on a Nixon-Johnson trial heat.

While, contrary to Harris, Gallup finds more Republicans preferring Nixon over Romney, Gallup reports that among all voters — Republican, Democratic and independent — it is Romney 45 per cent, Nixon 41 per cent, and undecided 14 per cent.

At this stage it looks like 1952 all over again, and I certainly think Nixon is right in arguing that a headline-getting, contested convention will be a boon to the party.

Poverty Rent Plans Not Very Successful

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON: The Great Society's rent supplemental program is turning out to be about as productive as a dry creek.

With little more than four months remaining of this fiscal year, only around $160,000 of the $2 million voted by Congress for rent supplements has actually been allocated by the Federal Housing Administration. That's less than 10 per cent.

Congress authorized $32 million for the FHA to enter into contracts covering other aspects of this controversial program. Only about one-third—$10.381 million—has been asked for.

THIS IS the unpublicized record of a program that President Johnson, in vigorously pressing it on Congress, effusively hailed as "the most crucial new instrument in our effort to improve American cities." Similarly, Sen. John Pastore, D-R.I., who led the Administration's floor fight for the legislation, acclaimed it as "one of the best programs ever conceived to fight poverty in this nation."

Neither has said anything about the way this extravagantly touted Great Society panacea is lagging.

To date, rent supplements have been received by tenants in only two cites—Lorain and Oberlin, Ohio. Payments are slated to start this month in Cleveland and St. Paul, Minn.

In addition, FHA has signed contracts to supplement for low-cost housing projects in Roxbury, Mass., and Providence, R.I.

Total committed outlay — $158,108 out of $2 million voted by Congress.

Last year, Robert Weaver, head of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, solemnly assured Congress, "The evidence is clear that there is substantial demand for this program."

THE IRREFUTABLE evidence is exactly to the contrary.

This also is true of what has happened with the $32 million in contractual authority given the FHA.

The primary purpose is to induce private enterprise and non-profit organizations to go into low-cost public housing.

The government insures the mortgage, and assures the owner that a good portion of the rent will be paid. Supplements range from 10 to 70 per cent of the rent, depending on family income. For families of four they run from $3,000 in the South to $5,760 in New York City.

Of the 50 states, Texas leads with $1.4 million. This is almost as much as New York and California combined. Eleven Western states, including California and its three huge metropolitan areas have asked $773,560 of $2.95 million available.

THE JOHNSON Administration's approval of economic sanctions against Rhodesia came under heavy bipartisan battering at a meeting of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, was unimpressed.

"I can tell you very positively," he told Rusk, "that the people of my state are overwhelmingly against enforcing sanctions against Rhodesia. I have received many letters voicing that viewpoint."

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, wanted to know if the employment of U.S. troops is contemplated to enforce the sanctions. Rusk strenuously denied that.

"What about providing money for UN mercenaries?" demanded Gross.

"I can't say anything definite about that because it hasn't come up," replied Rusk.

Supervisors County-Wide Way Of Thinking Shows Through

One of the statements you hear repeatedly is that the Marin County Board of Supervisors represents the entire county and there is no longer any district sectionalism.

NO ONE subscribes to this statement faster than the supervisors themselves. In fact, the supervisors are the ones who keep making the statement. Everyone else knows better.

A case in point arose this week with the announcement of purchase by Nature Conservancy of the 110-acre Kent Island in Bolinas Lagoon. The surprise announcement came from Ernest M. Kettenhofen.

This alone was a violation of district boundaries. The lagoon is in Supervisor Thomas T. Storer's Fourth District.

When Kettenhofen insisted on making the motion to accept the deed for the county on the island, it was not just a violation, it was a panzer attack.

Storer was angry. "If I'd done something like that in his district, you would have heard about it," Storer said after the meeting ended.

"THAT'S RIGHT," Kettenhofen said with a smile.

If anyone would be violating borders to make such an announcement, one would think that it would be Peter H. Behr, whose most prominent Janissaries are strong in the conservationist camp. But he was not even in the room when the assault occurred.

Storer will undoubtedly remember the incident a long time.

However, the supervisor who guards his borders most zealously is William A. Gnoss, representing the Fifth District, embracing the people and territory in and around Novato.

HE USUALLY insists that every committee and commission has at least one of his people represented on it. It was this insistence which blocked the swing vote for former Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker's appointment to the housing authority and redevopment agency. Seated instead was a man from Novato.

Redistricting some time back seemed to be the cure for the border syndrome. In redistricting, parts of the First, Second, Third and Fifth districts were appended to the Fourth District. Sections of San Rafael, Larkspur and Corte Madera were added to a district which had long embraced West Marin only.

This action was confusing to all and confusing and embarrassing to the supervisors.

OFTEN they found that they were working, announcing and making motions for a project which was not even in their district. This caused some red faces and a little hesitancy.

"Oh, well, we think countywide," was usually the way out. Later supervisors learned to ask, before making any statements, in whose district the project lay.

Unfortunately, supervisors have now pretty well learned their borders. Once again, we hear with some confidence that the Marin County board of supervisors represents the entire county and there is no longer any sectionalism.

IF THEY repeat it much more, we really should ask them to burn incense.

How Do We Choose U.S. Cities Worth Saving With Nike Xs

WASHINGTON — The Joint Chiefs of Staff have just made a proposal to protect 50 U.S. cities from missile attack by defending them with the costly Nike-X antimissile system. The Pentagon said the cities were selected on the basis of size, but it turned out that many cities chosen were, in fact, smaller than those left off the list (i.e. Charleston, South Carolina, population 76,000 and home of L. Mendel Rivers, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, would be protected; San Diego, population 1 million, would not).

When senators and congressmen from unprotected cities heard about the list they hit the Capitol dome, and some of them haven't come down yet. It's obvious that the Joint Chiefs' antimissile plan in its present form will never get through.

THERE MUST BE a fairer way of selecting the cities that will get missile protection as against those that will have to be sacrificed in a nuclear war, and I've been giving it a lot of thought lately. Here are some of the ideas I'm running up the flagpole to see which ones the Joint Chiefs of Staff will salute.

The first thing would be to select 25 cities that have Democratic administrations and 25 cities that have Republican administrations. In that way, after World War III, the United States could preserve the two-party system.

The next thing would be to select cities that are in good shape financially. It has to be assumed that after an all-out missile attack the country will have some economic problems, and there is no reason it should be burdened with additional financial difficulties from urban areas.

THE COST OF making 50 cities bomb-proof, according to the Pentagon, is in the neighborhood of $20 billion, which is quite expensive; and there may be some resistance from those taxpayers whose towns are not in the protected areas. But this is shortsighted, because it is economically unfeasible to save everybody, and those citizens whose cities cannot be protected will at least expire with the knowledge that their taxes kept so many of their fellow Americans alive.

There also may be people who live out in the country and suburban areas who might feel they have as much right to survive an atomic attack as the city folks, but here again they're taking the small view.

As an industrial nation we need the cities for commerce, advertising, television and mass transportation. Except for farmers, there's no one worth saving in the countryside. Besides, city people are so much better dressed than people who live out of town that if you must make a choice in time of war you have to go with the clothes-conscious city folk every time.

SO THE QUESTION boils down to which cities do you save? It could be left up to Billy Graham, Cardinal Spellman or Bob Hope.

But if they couldn't agree, I think the best solution would be to hold a Miss Antimissile Contest on television.

Each city would send its most beautiful girl to Atlantic City and she would be judged according to beauty, intelligence and talent. The jury would select 50 girls as Miss Antimissile, and the cities they came from would be spared.

ANOTHER suggestion has been to give the Nike-X to any city with a professional football team, on the theory that people are going to need something to take their minds off the inconveniences caused by another world war.

Bridge Removal To Close River

The navigation channel of the Napa River at Vallejo, adjacent to the new fixed-span highway bridge and the old lift bridge, will be closed from 9 a.m. March 6 to 9 a.m. March 9, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers warned ship and boat operators today.

The channel is being closed to traffic at that time to permit removal of the old bridge, it was explained.

An alternate channel immediately west of the navigation span of the new bridge will be available, Corps spokesmen said, but cautioned that it should be used only during daylight hours as neither fender system nor lighting exists there. The alternate is 85 feet wide with an approximate depth of 23 feet.

Daily X-Ray of an entire county

Each day, the Independent-Journal prints the living history of Marin County . . . the examination of a thousand events, some big, some small . . . but all necessary to keep you well-informed.

We try to be objective in reporting (as a good X-Ray should). We try to show you what happened . . . the who, the why, the when, the where. We give you the clear outlines of events and the shadings that add meaning. Our newsmen, trained to observe, go behind the surface to the facts . . . constantly investigating, questioning, reporting the findings.

They do this in each community in the county . . . and for practically every news event in the community. Civic meetings, sports, a political gathering, an accident, a court trial, a humorous incident . . . so much local news is reported that it's been said, "If it isn't in the I-J, it didn't happen." Which is not too far off the truth, at that.

When you read the I-J, you become a citizen of Marin County . . . aware of events, informed on their meanings. You become a part of the community.

Nothing healthier than that!

WHAT IT TAKES TO "X-RAY" ALL MARIN

- 18 I-J NEWSMEN ALWAYS LOOKING FOR THE "SYMPTOMS" OF NEW EVENTS.
- 4 LOCAL OFFICES, INTER-CONNECTED BY TELETYPE FOR FAST REPORTING.
- 13 TONS OF NEWSPRINT DAILY TO RECORD "WHAT HAPPENED."
- A TOTAL OF FROM 1,500,000 TO 1,850,000 PAGES PRINTED DAILY . . . CARRYING THE MESSAGE TO 41,000 MARIN COUNTY FAMILIES.

BY ORDER OF THE MARIN COUNTY SUPERIOR COURT THIS NOTICE IS DIRECTED TO ALL THOSE TRUST DEED INVESTORS WHO OWN OR HOLD THOSE TRUST DEEDS SECURED BY THE REEDLANDS UNIT NO. 4 REAL PROPERTY OR BY THE REEDLANDS UNIT NO. 5 REAL PROPERTY LOCATED IN THE COUNTY OF MARIN, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, WHICH TRUST DEEDS WE EXECUTED BY REEDLANDS, INC., REEDCLIFF, INC., AND SUBURBAN PROPERTIES, INC., AND SOLD BY LOS ANGELES TRUST DEED AND MORTGAGE EXCHANGE TO THE INVESTING PUBLIC, AND TO ALL OTHER PERSONS WHOM THIS MAY CONCERN:

YOU AND EACH OF YOU WILL PLEASE TAKE NOTICE:

1. That there are 258 trust deeds, each purportedly secured by a separate parcel of land in either the Reedlands Unit No. 4 real property, consisting of approximately 30 acres of land, or by a separate parcel of land in the Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property, consisting of approximately 108 acres of land, both of said tracts are located in the County of Marin, State of California.

2. That on or about March 9, 1959, Reedlands, Inc., issued some 200 promissory notes, each of which was in the principal sum of $2,342.86, with interest at the rate of 10% per annum and each of which was secured by a separate deed of trust purportedly covering a separate parcel within the Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract. The aggregate face amount of said 200 notes and trust deeds was $468,572.00. These promissory notes and accompanying deeds of trust were thereafter assigned to the Los Angeles Trust Deed and Mortgage Exchange and were then sold to various trust deed investors. That the legal description of the 108 acres Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property is annexed hereto as Exhibit One.

3. That on or about October 21, 1959, Suburban Proberties, Inc., issued some 58 promissory notes in various principal sums ranging from $4,300.00 to $6,000.00 with interest at the rate of 10% per annum and each of which was secured by a separate deed of trust purportedly covering a separate parcel within the Reedlands Unit No. 4 tract. The aggregate face amount of said 58 notes and trust deeds was $288,200.00. These promissory notes and accompanying deeds of trust were thereafter assigned to the Los Angeles Trust Deed and Mortgage Exchange and were then sold to various trust deed investors. That the legal description of the 30 acre Reedlands Unit No. 4 real property is annexed hereto as Exhibit Two.

4. That no payments of principal or interest have been made on said trust deeds, or any of them, since June of 1960, and they are all in default.

THE CLASS FORECLOSURE ACTION

5. That the above captioned action of Melvin A. Ogden, et al., vs. Reedlands, Inc., et al., No. 39,921 was filed as a class foreclosure action to foreclose all of the said 258 trust deeds on the said Reedlands Unit No. 4 and the said Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property, and to have all of the said real property sold in one or two units for the benefit of all of the said investors in said 258 trust deeds and to have the proceeds applied, after deducting expenses and costs of said action including reasonable attorneys' fees, to payment of the sums unpaid on to the said 258 deeds in such manner as the Court deems just and equitable. That the complaint in the said action asks that if the said Reedlands Unit No. 4 and Unit No. 5 real property cannot be sold at foreclosure sale for enough money to pay said 258 trust deeds in full, that the Court render a judgment for any deficiency against defendants therein, Reedlands, Inc., Reedcliff, Inc., and Mary Burrell Hanks.

6. That said class foreclosure action is filed pursuant to the doctrines contained in the California Supreme Court cases of Chance vs. Superior Court, (1962) 58 C. 2d 275 and Hink vs. Superior Court, (1962) 58 C. 2d 921. That the plaintiffs in said action contend that the said Reedlands Unit No. 4 tract and Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract were never properly subdivided, and they therefore contend that the trust deeded parcels do not exist separately from the rest of the tracts, as a matter of law.

7. That at the time of the trial of the said class foreclosure action of Melvin A. Ogden, et al., vs. Reedlands, Inc., et al., No. 39,921, the Court will be asked to decide whether,

(a) All of the 258 trust deeds should be foreclosed on both Reedlands Unit No. 4 and the Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property, and the 258 trust deeds created as an individual class, or
(b) whether the 58 trust deeds ostensibly secured by the Reedlands Unit No. 4 property should be treated as a separate class from the 200 trust deeds ostensibly secured by the Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property. If the trust deeds on these two properties are treated as one class all of the sums recovered from either of the two properties will be placed in one "pot" from which payments will be made in proportion to the amounts unpaid on all of the 258 trust deeds. If the trust deeds are treated as two classes, the 58 trust deeds ostensibly secured by Reedlands Unit No. 4 will only share in sums recovered from Reedlands Unit No. 4, and the 200 trust deeds ostensibly secured by Reedlands Unit No. 5 will only share in sums recovered from Reedlands Unit No. 5. If the Court should decide at the trial of said class foreclosure action that the trust deed investors are two separate classes, it will then be asked to equitably allocate to the trust deeds in each tract all expenses paid and all sums received on that tract.

THE CONDEMNATION ACTION

8. The above captioned action of Tamalpais Union High School District, etc., vs. John C. Gamm, et al., No. 39855, was filed as a condemnation action whereby the plaintiff School District therein sought to condemn some 47.75 acres of land of the Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property for the construction of a high school.

9. That of the 200 Reedlands Unit No. 5, trust deeds, 108 purport to cover particular parcels which are entirely or partly in the area sought to be condemned and 92 purport to cover particular parcels outside the taking area. That defendant Hermann Schneider and certain of the other trust deed investors filed an answer and cross-complaint in this action No. 39855 purportedly on behalf of the entire group of investors in the 200 Reedlands Unit No. 5 trust deeds.

10. That this action was called for a jury trial of the valuation phase on October 10, 1966. After several days of trial, the attorneys for the School District, and the attorneys for the defendant trust deed investors Hermann Schneider, and others, agreed to recommend that this action be settled insofar as the valuation phase and the controversy between the School District and the trust deed investors is concerned, by payment of $350,000.00 in cash, and entering certain agreements as to construction of improvements, which agreements will benefit the portion not taken and enhance its value by approximately $60,000.00. The hearing on said settlement is currently set for February 24, 1967 at 10:00 o'clock A.M., in the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE FURTHER that the plaintiff turst deed investors in Melvin A. Ogden, et al., vs. Reedlands, Inc., et al., No. 39921, and the defendant trust deed investors Hermann Schneider, et al., in Tamalpais Union High School District, etc., vs. John C. Gamm, et al., No. 39855, have filed a motion for an order consolidating said two actions. (1) that $32,132.81 in back real property taxes on the Reedlands Unit No. 4 real property and the remaining 60 acres of the Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property be paid, and that $21,617.10 in taxes on the 47.75 acres of the Reedlands Unit No. 5 taken by the School District be paid in order to keep the said real property from being sold for unpaid taxes; and

Ships Built In Sausalito Playing Part In Moon Race

Three ships built in Sausalito 25 years ago are today playing a vital role in America's space race to put the first man on the moon.

The three were brought out of mothballs in 1964 and towed to Quincy, Mass., where they are now being converted into Apollo moon-tracking ships for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration by General Dynamics Corp.

It is a new, exciting life for the old Mission San Fernando, the Mission De Pala and the Mission San Juan which were among 93 ships launched from slipways at Marinship between 1942 and 1945.

Nowadays, no-one would recognize the old girls. They have new midsections and new hulls built in, and they are larger and smarter in their new jet-age dress of white.

They even have new names, the Vanguard, the Mercury and the Redstone.

Sigurd B. Hope of Mill Valley, a seaman aboard the Redstone, dug out the pedigree of the three ships and wrote the Independent-Journal about it. He sent along a picture of the "reunion" too.

"The cost of converting the three ships is a little over $98 million each," he said, "and the NASA official here in Quincy believes it is money well spent. Each is a space center of its own."

Hope is the 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stein R. Hope of 284 East Blythdale Avenue. He is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and attended College of Marin.

He said he had witnessed much of the conversion since he joined the Redstone six months ago. His ship will operate in the Pacific Ocean and be home based in San Francisco.

The home port of the Vanguard will be New York and she will operate in the Atlantic. The Mercury will operate in the Indian Ocean and be based at Cape Kennedy.

Proud as anyone of the re-birth is Robert Digges of Kentfield who was administration manager at Marinship during World War II.

"How about that, the old ones are being brought right up to date," he said at his home today. "It is great news to hear what has happened to them. A lot of Marin County former shipbuilders will be very interested."

About 75,000 workers passed through Marinship in its boom years of 1943 and 1944. The skill and energy they welded into these three ships will pack a payoff for a generation yet unborn.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Cholesterol Count Can Be Checked Through Dieting

VAN DELLEN

The best and safest way to reduce an elevated cholesterol level of the blood is via a diet. Eat less animal (saturated) fats and cholesterol-rich foods. In addition, increase the consumption of polyunsaturated vegetable oils, fish, and poultry. Reduce, if overweight.

Foods rich in cholesterol inflence the level of this fatlike substance in the blood. Organ meats such as liver, kidney and brain contain large amounts, egg yolk and some seafoods (oysters and shrimp) have appreciable amounts. The fatty chemical is present only in animal tissues. A restricted intake of animal fats will lessen the cholesterol level.

IT IS UNWISE to avoid animal tissues completely. Select lean meats and remove the visible fats. Reducing the daily consumption to no more than 8 ounces is advisable. Limit the number of eggs to five or fewer a week. Skim mild has all the nutrients of whole mild except the fat. Margarine should be substituted for butter. Adding vegetable oils and spreads lowers the cholesterol level and renders the diet more palatable.

A large part of the world's food and feed supply consists of seed crops which are rich in carbohydrates and low in fats. Because so much corn is processed for starch, a great quanity of corn oil is available for marketing. Legume seeds are rich in protein and, like cereal grains, are low in oil content. Soybeans and peanuts are legumes that are utilized in the most widely used vegetable oils. Corn or safflower oil has no magical quality that makes it better than cottonseed or soybean oil and vice versa.

THERE ARE many other oil-rich seeds that have never been studied. The use of vegetable oils in foods still is in its infancy, and we can anticipate the discovery of many new natural products.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

DIFFERENT PHASES

J. I. S. writes: What is the difference between acute and chronic diseases and are both curable?

REPLY

A disease is acute when it reaches a crisis rapidly and then subsides. Chronic conditions usually linger and some, like arteriosclerosis, may exist for several decades before causing symptoms. Chronic diseases are less likely to be cured than the acute variety.

DETECTING BRAIN DAMAGE

Mrs. T. W. writes: What is the name of the intricate machine used to determine whether boxers have any brain injury? Does this device record any type of brain injury?

REPLY

I presume you refer to the elec-tro-en-ceph-a-lo-graph, which records brain waves. In some instances of brain damage, an abnormal tracing will be obtained.

STANDING ON HEAD

M H. writes: I stand on my head once or twice a day f ecercise. Is there any harm in this practice?

REPLY

I can see no harm or good in standing on the head daily. The congestion of blood does not improve the function of the brain and the feet will not thank you for the loss of circulation.

BRAIN TUMORS

O. H. writes: Does a tumor of the brain mean cancer?

REPLY

Many brain tumors are not cancerous. But they are just as dangerous in many instances because the skull cannot expand and the growing tumor crowds out the normal brain tissue.

Ultrasound Device An Aid In Healing

By JUDITH RANDAL
Advance News Service

NEW YORK—A device that uses ultrasound — noise beyond the range of human hearing— to condense water vapor into precisely formed tiny droplets is helping people with lung disorders to lead more normal lives.

The machine is able to produce droplets just the right size to pass deep into the small passages of the lungs. If the droplets were too large they would never get this far, and if they were too small they would be exhaled before doing any good.

Humidity produced by the machine is vital to two groups of patients, children who have inherited a lung disorder called cystic fibrosis and older people who have undergone throat surgery or suffer from bronchial asthma or emphysema. It works by liquifying the mucous plugging the respiratory pathways, enabling the patient to cough it up when he otherwise might choke.

"The machine," said Dr. E. Stewart Owre of Long Island College Hospital, "has held back the death process of a good number of patients—for how long we do not know."

Called an aerosol generator, the device consists of two units, each about the size of a breadbox. In operation, they are side by side with a space in between. A cylinder containing water, and in some instances medication, is placed between the two boxes.

Sound waves sent into the liquid by a special generator cause the fluid to vibrate, thus breaking it up into tiny droplets. These, then, pass through a tube leading from the cylinder into a face mask or mouthpiece from which the patient breathes.

Because the device weighs only about 40 pounds and operates on ordinary house curernt, it is easily transported and can be used at home. Another of its advantages, Dr. Owre said, is its relatively low cost — about $500.

Kirk, Bride Having Short Honeymoon

The controversial Republican "governor 'a go go" and blonde, emerald-eyed Erika Mattfeld were believed aboard the luxury yacht Caliente somewhere in the Atlantic or the Caribbean today. Tomorrow, however, Kirk is due in Tallahassee for a cabinet meeting.

The brevity of the honeymoon didn't diminish the splendor of the nation's first gubernatorial wedding since New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller wed his present wife, Happy, May 4, 1963.

The wedding took place in a pink seaside palace bedecked with 10,000 orange blossoms and flowing with French champagne. Among guests was former GOP Vice President Nixon.

FMC Reports Sales Over Billion Mark

SAN JOSE (UPI)—FMC Corp. announced today its sale exceeded the billion dollar mark for the first time in 1966, boosting earnings to $62.9 million.

Chairman James M. Hait said earnings, which equalled $2.07 a share, were up 9 per cent from 1965. They were based on sales of $1.01 billion, also up 9 per cent.

Prowling Suspect Booked By Police

Dennis Michael Wagner, 24 of Lagunitas, was booked Friday night at county jail by Mill Valley police on suspicion of prowling. Wagner was caught in the backyard of Barney Emil Berlenbach, 15 Middle Court, police reported.

Wagner told police he was hiding from a carload of youths who were chasing him, but they said he told Berlenback he was looking for his dog.

Petty Thefts

Phil Frates, apt. 22, told Tiburon sheriff's deputies that an expensive doormat, a pillow and a pair of slacks, with a total value of $50, were taken from his car while it was parked overnight outside his apartment. Raymond H. Bechtold, apt. 32, manager of the apartments, said a ceramic ash tray and his "manager" sign were taken from the front of his apartment Thursday night.

TV REVIEW

Savage Beauty In Ex-Con's Sad Plight

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —A play of chilling, savage beauty, "Losers Weepers," set in the Negro Watts area of Los Angeles, came to NBC-TV yesterday afternoon, written by Narry Dolan, who a year ago was a janitor.

The drama, which marked the debut of the network's 10-week "experiment in television" series, was a compassionate, poetic, yet angry study of the frustrations of Negro ghetto life, particularly of the emotional emasculation of the man who is unable to get respectable employment because of his race.

THE PLOT

Within this larger framework was the plot itself—the story of an ex-convict who tries to get back his children from his mother-in-law, who in turn despises him for his inability to crawl for any kind of a job, and blames him for the death of her sickly daughter, his wife, who worked when he baby sat.

Madison Avenue stayed away from this drama as though it were the plague. There were no sponsors.

KILLED SUPPORT

The promising playwright, 36, who was discovered at the writers' workshop that author Budd Schulberg started in Watts, got top-drawer support in the creation of his drama.

The cast of "Losers Weepers" could hardly be improved upon. As the children's grandmother—the ex-convict's mother-in-law—Sonora McKeller, in her television dramatic debut, portrayed a taunting, fearful old woman with biblical dimension, an unintentional villainess that one will not soon forget.

As the young boy who conquers his life in order to despise his father for being "weak," and who represents the tougher new generation, Kyle Johnson seemed to live the part. As the father, Yaphet Kotto was never guilty of a false acting note. "Don't you be following in my steps," he tells his son as they split irreparably, "because I ain't got any."

Lunar Orbiter Having Trouble

The 850-pound spacecraft is whirling around the moon photographing 12 possible landing sites for U.S. Apollo astronauts.

A JPL spokesman said that equipment aboard Orbiter 3 designed to advance the negative film through a scanner has at times failed to operate, resulting in repetition of frames previously received by tracing stations on earth.

Arnold Palmer Wins Tucson Open On 18th Hole

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — "I just choked. Lots of guys will say they hit a spike mark, but all I hit was my putter."

That's how Chuck Courtney sized up the five-foot putt he missed on the 18th hole which gave the Tucson Open golf tournament title to Arnold Palmer by one stroke.

Courtney, 26, of La Jolla, had put the pressure on Palmer throughout yesterday's final 18 holes, erasing a seemingly comfortable four-stroke lead which Palmer had held since the start of play.

"It was just through Chuck's kindness that I was able to win," said Palmer, who pocketed the $12,000 top money to become the first double winner of the 1967 tour.

THREATENS RECORD

Up to the final 18 holes, Palmer seemed unstoppable as he finished the 54 holes with a 16-under-par 200 and threatened to set a new course record at the Tucson National Golf Club.

It was an almost unbelievable set of circumstances on the final hole which won Palmer the title despite a double bogey to give him a final round score of one-over-par 73.

Courtney, trying for his first tour win since the 1964 St.Paul Open, put his tee shot into the water along the right side of hte fairway on the tough 465- yard, par-four finishing hole.

This gave Palmer a clear chance to wrap up the championship, but the tour's top money winner of all time tried to carry the same water with his drive and left it in the lake.

Asked later why he didn't try to play it safe Palmer replied in characteristic fashion, "I felt I could drive the lake, so I tried it."

This left the issue in doubt until Courtney needed three putts to get down with a triple bogey while Palmer sank his second putt after the two players had gone into the final hole all even at 18 under par.

DOWN-HEARTED

The down - hearted Courtney, who picked up the $7,200 second-place money, said, "And I had putted magnificently all day."

Palmer, who captured the Los Angeles Open title last month, had experimented throughout the tourney with aluminum shaft golf clubs but admitted that he "wasn't real sharp," especially on his putting.

It was Palmer's driving to the sweeping, hard-packed fairways of the 7,200-yard, par 36-36— 72 desert course which kept him in front of the pack and made him the first player this year to lead at the start of every round of a tour event.

Bruce Crampton of Sydney, Australia, finished one stroke behind Courtney at 275 and won $4,500. John Schlee, the 1966 rookie of the year, finished at 277 and picked up $3,000.

Schlee had made a real run at the leaders with an eagle three and a birdie on the first five holes, but a double bogey on the 15th killed his chances at catching the leaders.

Drake Tries To Wrap Up Cage Title

PRESS BOX VIEWS

By JACK HANLEY

Rozelle Will Be Trying To Make Both Sides Happy With Draft

HANLEY

Pete Rozelle just wound up a session with American Football League owners in Florida. Now the pro football commissioner is huddling with National Football League owners in Hawaii.

BOTH AFL AND NFL are insisting that Rozelle use their rules in conducting the long delayed 1966 college football players draft which will be the first common draft of the once rival leagues.

This obviously is impossible since draft procedures of the now happily merged leagues do not coincide. The NFL permits selection of seniors and junior redshirts in the same draft session. The AFL likes to hold two sessions, one for seniors, a separate one for redshirts.

GREEN BAY'S PACKERS, with 10 draft choices in the first five rounds, naturally want the NFL system retained. The champs can't find room on their squad for 10 seniors. So the Packers would like to invest in some promising redshirts. Indeed, that is why Green Bay made trades for the draft choices.

Nobody is going to be unduly disturbed if the Packers fail to protect their draft equities. That is, nobody except Vince Lombardi. He won't relinquish Packer property rights without a fight.

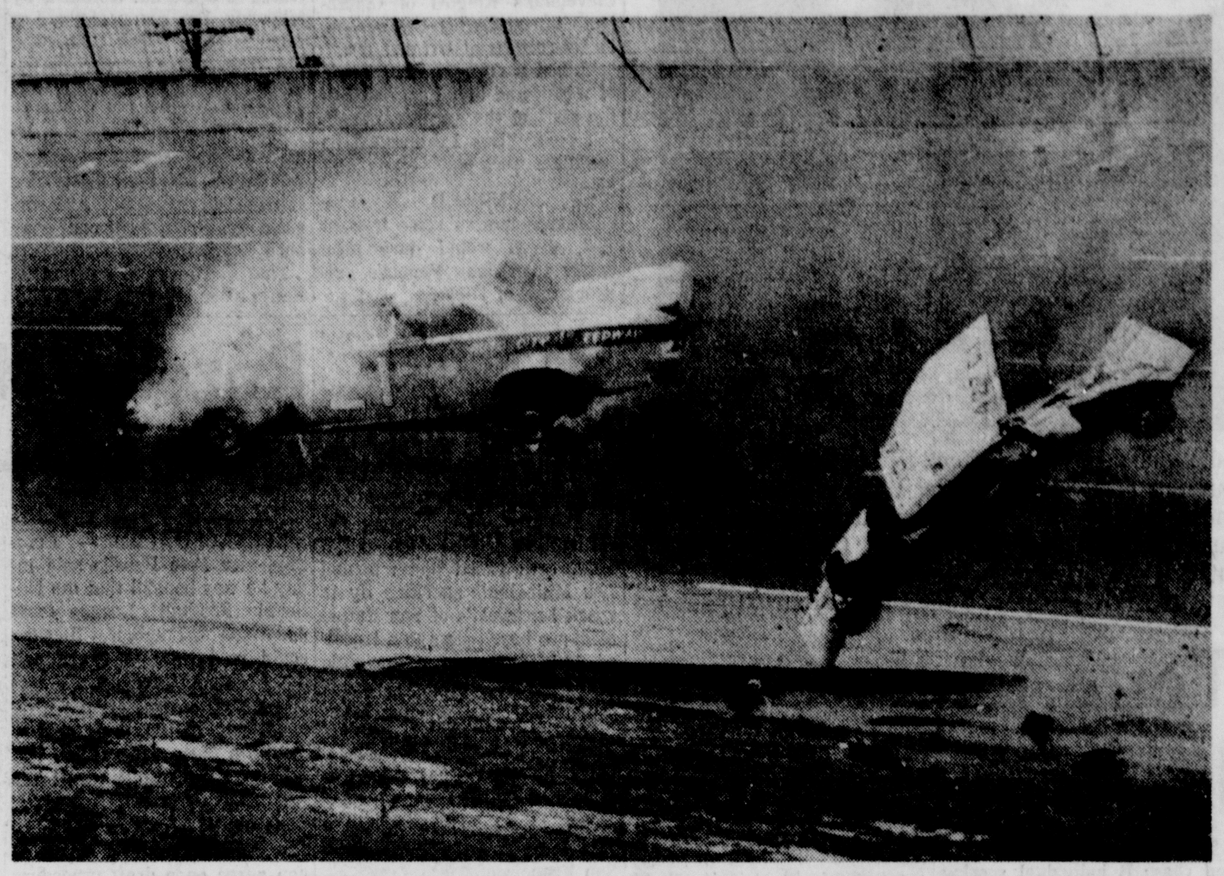
"WE FAIL IN OUR obligation unless we preserve what has always been an American zeal—that is, to win and to be first, regardless of what we do," Lombardi told a convention of businessmen recently.

Lombardi firmly believes it is his solemn obligation as general manager and coach of the Packers to preserve their property. And he regards draft rights most valuable property

IT WILL BE INTERESTING to see how Rozelle solves the draft problem. Compared to some of the sticky situations he has solved, this is a simple problem for the suave czar of the football pros.

It isn't a question of whether Rozelle will unravel the problem. But will his solution keep Lombardi happy? A diplomatic genius, Rozelle strives for solutions that leave disputants smiling.

ROZELLE IS RELUCTANT to use the power of his office in arbitrary decisions. But he is quite capable of cracking down as he did not so long ago on George Halas, one of the founding fathers of the NFL, when Halas popped off about the officiating in a Bear game.



DRIVER ESCAPES DEATH IN FIERY CRASH

Johnny Roberts of Breckenridge, Mich., is reported in good condition today after being hospitalized following this crash yesterday at Daytona Beach, Fla., during a 250-mile race. His Ford blew an engine, then tumbled end over end, parts flying in all directions. Roberts suffered a concussion, multiple bruises and internal injuries. His condition was first described as serious, but he was taken off the hospital's serious list today. (UPI Telephoto)

A Win Tomorrow Will Take It All

By GARY TISCHLER

The Drake Pirates can tie the final ribbon onto the Marin County Athletic League basketball title tomorrow night when they trek to Kentfield to battle Marin Catholic's upset minded Wildcats. But Coach Carl Brown is not taking anything for granted just yet. He's still savoring last week's pressure-packed 46-45 win over Tamalpais.

"I don't think we'll have any letdown," he said. "We haven't overlooked anybody this season yet."

"I guess we just like to play defense," he said of the victory. "Stu Clemmons did a fine job on Woodward (Tam guard Steve)."

Woodward, the top scorer in the league a week ago, was held to 11 points.

Brown had no intention of taking out 6-6 center Jerry Sprout when he drew his third foul early in the game and his fourth at the end of the third quarter.

"I've seen lots of players play almost a whole game with four fouls," he said. "If he's on the bench he might as well be out of the game. He's not going to help us sitting there."

"Losing Barrow (Leroy) certainly hurt them," Brown said. "He doesn't score much but he's a pressure player and a fine defensive player.

"That press of theirs hurt us," Brown said. "I thought we might have had them with an eight-point lead that late in that kind of game. But they came right back.

"I can't understand our free throw shooting," Brown added "We work and work on it but it doesn't seem to do any good."

The Pirates made 10 of 21, just good enough to beat the Indians.

Tamalpais, which plays at Terra Linda tomorrow night, has a one in a hundred outside shot at a title tie but only if the Pirates lose against both Marin Catholic and Redwood. In the other league game tomorrow, San Rafael is at Novato.

All three MCAL games tomorrow are at night, since school is out Wednesday, Washington's birthday.

This Week's Marin County Cage Schedule:

NORTH COAST

Novato's Wrestlers Take Second

Novato High School's powerful wrestling team, paced by two individual titles, finished second in the 40 team North Coast Section, Division One Wrestling Tournament at Novato last Saturday.

Arroyo was third with 37 points followed by Berkeley with 35 points. Tamalpais topped the rest of the Marin County Athletic League entries with 17 points for 15th place, followed by Terra Linda with 12 points for 17th place, Redwood with 11 points for 20th place and San Rafael with two points for 29th place.

Ninety-eight-pounder Ken Donaldson and Steve Collins of Novato at 115 pounds were the only Marin County title winners but three others qualified for the Northern California Championships at Sacramento this week.

Bill Goldsmith of Terra Linda was runnerup at 130 pounds for a ticket to the big tourney. So was Duke Herrero of Redwood, a surprise runnerup at 157 pounds. Corey Parfitt also qualified at 157 pounds with a third place finish.

"In a tournament of this size, I was very pleased with our second-place finish," Novato coach Ralph Cutler said. "I thought we might finish high up."

Donaldson, whose twin brother Kirt finished fourth at 98 pounds, had the most impressive route to a title, leaving pinned opponents all over the place. The sophomore wrestler won his first two matches by falls, then took a 9-4 decision in the semi-finals before pinning Roger Moreland of Canyon in the finals.

Collins, the MCAL runnerup, carved his way to a title with a razor-thin knife. He won his first match on a forfeit, his second, 1-0, on a lone escape, his third 8-6, with a five-point flurry in the last 30 seconds after trailing, 3-6, then edged Steve McCarthy of Sunset, 3-2, on an escape with 15 seconds remaining in the match.

Herrero also toed a close line to the finals, winning 3-1, 9-6 and on a referee's decision in the semi-final bout. Goldsmith won three decisions enroute to the finals.

Bruce Hildreth, Tam's 269-pound MCAL heavyweight champ, went into overtime with eventual champion Bill Currier of Arroyo and lost on a referee's decision in the quarterfinals. He finished fourth.

Sunset, the team titlist, brought only eight wrestlers to the tournament but seven of them placed, one for a championship.

Pasarell Wins Tennis Title

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Charles Pasarell, the first repeat champion of U.S. indoor tennis in 31 years, returns to college this week before resuming his drive for No. 1 ranking among America's amateur players.

Arthur Ashe, the heir apparent to the top spot since Dennis Ralston turned professional, faces two years of Army duty which probably will sidetrack his tennis aspirations.

Pasarell beat Ashe 13-11, 6-2, 2-6, 9-7 yesterday to become the first man to win consecutive titles since Greg Magin in 1935-36.

"I was concentrating on my volleys," Pasarell said before heading back to the UCLA campus where he is studying industrial design. "I wasn't trying to win points outright with my service.

"It's your volleys where you win or lose, and that's where I won."

LIEUTENANT ASHE

Ashe reports as a lieutenant to Ft. Harrison, Ind., Friday for nine weeks of classwork at the Adjutant General's school, but he said he must do some homework in tennis also.

"Whenever I lose, it's because of my volleys," Ashe said after his volleys — particularly his backhand — got him into trouble yesterday.

"I learned to volley too late in my career," Ashe said. "It will take two or three more years to feel completely confident up there at the net."

That may be difficult for Ashe while serving two years in the Army. After his schooling at Ft. Harrison, he is due to report to West Point, N.Y.

"I won't be able to play tournaments while I'm going to school," Ashe said. "I don't know what will happen at West Point."

Ashe also had trouble with his service yesterday. He double faulted six times in the first set.

Pasarell, a 23-year-old Puerto Rican, won the second set after Ashe failed five times to score a breakthrough in the first game.

Ashe then won the third set, as Pasarell showed signs of weariness, and broke the defending champion's service in the first game of the fourth set.

TENSE

"I was a little tense and tired," Pasarell said. "But I was hitting the ball well and I thought if Arthur hit a couple of bad shots, I'd get back in the game. That's what happened."

Ashe hit two return services into the net in the fourth game as Pasarell broke through and tied the score 2-2. After muffing four chances to score a breakthrough in the fifth game, Ashe never again had a chance.

Pasarell and Ashe returned to the court later and rallied from a 4-1 deficit in the third set to win the doubles from England's Bobby Wilson and Roger Taylor, 2-6, 6-3, 8-6.

In the 1966 rankings, Ashe was rated No. 2 behind Ralston, followed by Clark Graebner and Pasarell.

Pasarell is expected to resume his tournament tennis in Mexico City March 27.

Zwieg Wins Upset At San Rafael Tourney

John Zwieg, top-rated player from College of Marin, pulled off the first upset of the first Pacific Coast Indoor Tennis Championships by toppling eighth-seeded Don Jacobus of Berkeley, 4-6, 6-0, 6-2 at the new Pacific Coast Indoor Tennis Club yesterday.

Play continues in the tourney this week through Sunday beginning at 6 p.m. each day. Admission is free through tomorrow night, with a $2.50 admission being charged beginning Wednesday. Juniors are admitted free when accompanied by their parents.

The new Pacific Coast Indoor Tennis Club is located at 96 Mitchell Blvd. in the Northgate Industrial Park in San Rafael.

WOMEN'S INDOOR NATIONALS

Billie Jean Retains Crown

WINCHESTER, Mass. (AP) — Billie Jean Moffitt King, Wimbledon queen and ranked No. 1 in U.S. tennis ratings, is ready to reply to critics who think her yeak in play on clay courts.

"I think I played well on any surface and I intend to prove it," Mrs. King said yesterday after retaining her National Indoor Women's Championship with a smashing 6-1, 6-0 triumph over Trudy Groenman of The Netherlands.

The 23-year-old Long Beach housewife when not on tour admitted she had been slightly worried about playing on the plastic grass at the Winchester Indoor Tennis Center.

"I thought I might be bothered by a slower surface, but I wasn't, Mrs. King said. "I've improved my forehand and now I have the 'groundies' and can win anywhere.

"This was the best I've played since Wimbledon. I didn't tire even though I played three matches today. Now I'm looking forward to making the circuit. My husband, Larry, thinks I should compete as long as he's in law school. That's two more years and I hope to remain No. 1 until then."

'Mrs. King said she will play in the South African championships next month, then the French championships. The latter are considered the world's stiffest clay court tests.

She plans to compete in the Federation Cup Matches in West Germany and defend her title at Wimbledon. (She also plans to stop off at the Pacific Coast Tennis Club at San Rafael to compete in the tourney now underway.)

Despite her impressive singles title, Mrs. King failed in a bid for a triple sweep, which she did last year. Pauline Betz Addie is the only women's player to win the indoor singles, doubles and mixed doubles twice, turning the trick in the early 1940s.

After winning the singles, Mrs. King paired with 17-year-old Judy Nixon of Essex Fells, N.J., in the doubles. They bowed to Mary Ann Eisel and Carol Hanks Aucamp, both of St. Louis, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2. Mrs. King won the title with Rosemary Casals of San Francisco in 1966.

Billie Jean and Paul Sullivan of Cambridge, Mass., retained the mixed doubles crown with a 6-3, 6-3 victory over Miss Eisel and Chum Steele of Cambridge.

Sudden U.S. Speed Skate Prominence

DEVENTER, The Netherlands (AP) — Diane Holumn, 15, of Northbrook, Ill., and Mary Meyers, 21, of St. Paul, Minn., have suddenly pushed the United States into the elite among the world's top speed skating nations.

Miss Holumn finished third over the watersplashed ice yesterday in the 1,000 meter race of the Women's World Speed Skating Championships and then finished ninth in the 3,000. Combined with fifth and third places Saturday, she won the bronze medal in the over-all standings.

Miss Meyers finished 13th in the over-all standings with a 10th in the 1,000 and 16th in the 3,000. It was the first time in the 25-year history of the event, that the United States has placed two girls among the top 16.

Not since 1936 when Kitty Klein won the world title in Stockholm has the United States had such success in the world championships.

CERRUDO OUSTED FROM TOURNEY

Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael, the 22-year-old golfer who this year is a member of the U.S. Walker Cup team and has an invitation to the Masters tournament, has been eliminated in the San Francisco City golf tournament.

Cerrudo was beaten by 49-year-old Robert Roos 1-up yesterday in quarter-final action of the championship flight, on the Harding Park course.

Tar Swimmers Improve With Dual Meet Loss

Coach Bob Justice's College of Marin swimmers are rapidly improving.

The Tars lost their second dual swim meet last week, bowing to San Jose City College, 57-42, a big jump over their first meet in which they failed to win an event.

John Mulder and Jen Jones finished one-two in the 50-yard freestyle, with Mulder winning in 24.2. Pete Brinkerhoff took the 1,000-yard freestyle in 12:25.5 and Dennis Good won the 200-yard backstroke in 17.8.

Bill Kennedy, Good, Jones and Mulder teamed up to win the 400-yard freestyle relay in 3:45.1.

Tar diver Phil Minter entered the California Diving Relays last week and finished 8th in the required diving and 5th in optional diving.

The Tars host Solano Junior College at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

Warriors Hope For 4 Straight

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors have discovered they can win without Nate Thurmond.

The 6-foot-11 center has been out of action since Feb. 10 when he suffered two bone fractures in his left hand. The Warriors lost that game and the next two as well.

But after beating Boston 130-124 Saturday night in Phoenix, the Warriors take a three-game winning streak into their game tomorrow in San Diego against the Los Angeles Lakers.

Rick Barry, who has said Thurmond is the most important man on the team, was held to 29 points by the Celtics after two consecutive 50-point games.

But rookie Clyde Lee, working in the pivot for Thurmond, scored 22 points and Fred Hetzel, recovering from tendonitis, chipped in 24.

Barry scored five straight points in the last two minutes and 40 seconds as the Warriors moved in front 125-121. That clinched it for San Francisco.

John Havlicek matched Barry with 29 points for Boston.

IT'S PRESS TIME — Drake guard Karl Stein runs into the buzzsaw of the Tamalpais press as Indian forward Steve Johnson (22) and guard Steve Woodward try to cut him off at midcourt. The Indians used the press effectively but lost a harrowing 46-45 decision to Drake last Friday, giving the Pirates at least a tie for the Marin County Athletic League basketball title.

Seagren, Smith Among Indoor Record Breakers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Seagren had a cold, Tommie Smith had a plan and Tom Von Ruden had enough.

All three accounted for indoor track records over the weekend — Seagren with a 17-3 pole vault, Smith with a 46.2 quarter mile and Von Ruden with a 1:49 half mile.

Another indoor mark was set by Southern University's mile relay team at 3:10.2 over the big track at Louisville, Ky., which measures eight laps to the mile and was also the site of Smith's and Von Ruden's records.

Seagren extended his indoor pole vault mark by one inch in Cleveland's Knights of Columbus Games. Earlier this season, he set records at 17-1 and 17-2.

"I had a cold the last couple of weeks and didn't feel well at the start of the evening," Seagren said. "But I improved as the night wore on."

MISSED

Seagren missed three tries at 17-7, which would have been better than John Pennel's outdoor mark of 17-6¼.

Smith, the 6-foot-3, smooth-striding runner from San Jose State, beat Theron Lewis' three-week-old 440 mark by nine-tenths of a second. He did it by following Jim Kemp of the Los Angeles 49ers Track Club, who has been a big winner in the middle distances himself this winter.

"I knew Kemp was a good man for the first 250 yards," said Smith, who until this winter ran the shorter sprints. "I was going to strike just one good hard lick."

That he did, racing past Kemp after 70 yards of the second lap and winning by 1.3 seconds.

As for Von Ruden, he was a tired, puzzled runner when he was told his 880 time was eight-tenths of a second better than Tom Farrell's two-year-old indoor mark.

"The odd thing,' he said, "was that my second quarter (53.4) was faster than my first (55.6). You usually set records with a faster first quarter. But by the time I reached the finish line, I was plenty ready to stop."

The Southern University relay team knocked nine-tenths of a second off the indoor record it had held jointly with Texas Southern.

BATON SWITCH

"That baton switch is where we make up time," said team member Robert Johnson. "We were depending on it."

Other top performances turned in over the weekend were Neal Steinhauer's 65-8 shot put at Louisville, which was two feet, two inches off his indoor record, and Lee Adams' 6.6 clocking in the 60-yard low hurdles, an indoor mark, at Lawrence, Kan.

In a meet at Vancouver, Doris Brown, a Seattle housewife, smashed her own mile record with a 4:40.4 effort during which she lapped the entire field. Her old record was 4:52.

Abby Hoffman of Toronto cracked the 880-mark with time of 2:06.4 in the same meet.

Also in that meet, Kipchoge Keino, Kenya's great distance runner, quit the mile field in the next-to-last lap because he was boxed in by two other runners. Dyrol Burleson won in 4:03.4 and Australia's Ron Clarke finished fourth in 4:09.9.

Buckaroos Edge Seals Hockeymen

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Portland Buckaroos pulled a 3-2 victory over the California Seals in Western Hockey League action yesterday, thanks to Arlo Goodwin.

Goodwin hit his 22nd goal of the season to break a 2-2 tie and help the league-leading Bucks to their sixth straight win. The Seals host a rematch here tomorrow.

The two other Portland goals came in the second period by Cliff Schmautz and Gerry Goyer. California had a man in the penalty box each time.

The Seals scored with the opposition shorthanded when Bob Kabel shot from the outside. George Swarbrick tied it up at 15:52.

Terra Linda Cager In Scoring Lead

The lead in both the varsity and Class B individual scoring races in the Marin County Athletic League basketball race changed hands last week.

Fred Smith of Terra Linda scored 45 points in two games to vault past Tamalpais guard Steve Woodward in the varsity race. Woodward got 28 points in a pair of outings. Smith now has an 18.4 average to Woodward's 17.0.

Redwood guard Andre Horn jumped from fifth to third with 44 points in two games to up his average to 16.0.

Redwood's Roger Smith took over the Class B scoring lead with a 13.9 average.

San Rafael Nine Whips Palo Alto

Ron Law tripled deep to left field, then raced home behind Lou Millhollin's sacrifice fly to spark Litchfield's of San Rafael semi-pro baseballers to a lopsided 10-1 victory over the Palo Alto Oaks yesterday, at Golden Gate Park.

Cole, a righthander, notched his sixth win of the season without defeat, as the Litchfield baseballers extended their loop record to 9-2 and remain in a first-place tie with New Pisa of San Francisco.

Cole went the distance, fanned 10, scattered five singles and upped his six-game total to but 16 hits allowed, six earned runs and 52 strike-outs.

Dave Barni, the batting star of the game, garnered two singles, a double and a triple to raise his team-leading average to .467.

The airtight Triple A Winter Baseball League chase is going right down to the wire, though the co-leaders received a boost when Ellis Brooks of San Francisco battled to a twelve-inning, 1-1 tie, thus falling a half-game off the pace at 8-3. Tie games, according to league rules, are not re-played.

Rozelle Hopes Pro Draft Can Be Held in Mid-March

HONOLULU (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle said today he was hopeful that the National Football League and American Football League could hold their first common draft March 14 or 15.

The NFL owners opened their week-long annual meetings today with the site, date and format of the common draft the most important subjects to be determined.

"I am hopeful that the NFL can agree on a draft procedure identical to the format agreed upon by the AFL," said Rozelle, who wears two hats as head of the NFL and also commissioner of both leagues.

The AFL has gone on record as favoring a separate draft for the redshirts or players who still have college eligibility remaining although their original classes have graduated. The AFL has held separate drafts for years but the NFL has combined the two.

COULD BE APRIL

"If we can not get together on the draft at this time," said Rozelle, "we would have to go back to the AFL again. That could delay the draft until April because of the college spring vacations. I think most of the owners prefer a mid-March date for the draft."

Although Vince Lombardi, coach-general manger of the world champion Green Bay Packers, originally had opposed the separate redshirt draft, it was understood he now would agree to a separate selection.

Some club owners had suggested a no-trade ban on redshirt draftees but Lombardi was opposed to any such restriction.

The player-rich Packers, who have taken two straight NFL titles, like to stockpile players by trading for redshirt draft rights. Other teams have to grab what they can get for the immediate future and can not afford to wait.

Lombardi and the Packers reportedly have 10 draft choices in the first five rounds through smart trading. They had drafted Donny Anderson, the Texas Tech halfback, as a redshirt in 1964 and then signed him after he finished his college eligibility with the 1965 season for a reported $600,000.

NFL PRESIDENT

The NFL also will consider the subject of naming a league president. The AFL recently gave its president, Milt Woodard, a three-year contract.

However, a management firm has been hired by the NFL to survey all clubs and league officials on the best possible way of reorganizing pro football's administrative set-up. As this survey will not be completed until May, it is possible that no NFL president will be named until later.

"I would like to see a president named," said Rozelle. "And I know the AFL people would like to see one, too."

The preseason inter-league exhibition schedule still is being arranged. Rozelle said he thought there would be between 12 and 15 games between teams from the NFL and AFL.

UCLA's Record Now 21-0

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

If anyone has any ideas on how to beat the UCLA basketball team, he'd better show up soon.

For the top-ranked and undefeated Bruins have only five games left in the Pacific-8 Conference and regular season. They play Washington Friday in Los Angeles.

Last weekend, the Bruins survived a stall and sag. They beat Oregon 40-35 Friday night with a retalitory slowdown of their own.

On Saturday, Oregon State dropped three men back on 7-foot-1⅜ Lew Alcindor but lost 72-50 for UCLA's 21st victory without a loss.

28 FOR LEW

Despite the attention to Alcindor, the spotlighted sophomore scored 28 points on 11 of 14 field goal attempts and six of eight free throw opportunities.

In other Pacific-8 games Saturday, Stanford nipped second-place Washington State 71-70 in overtime, California beat Washington 87-73 to avenge an earlier defeat and Southern California downed Oregon 73-70 for the Duck's eighth loss without a victory in conference play.

UCLA looks like a cinch to take the title this year, having rolled up nine league triumphs. Washington State is next at 6-3. Should the Bruins end the regular season undefeated, they would have a chance for a 30-0 record with four victories in NCAA championship play.

While this might be considered looking too far ahead, how about the other seven members of the conference who have to look forward to two more years of Alcindor?

CRITCHFIELD HITS 25

The player competing with tall Lew for the Pacific-8 scoring crown, 5-10. Rusty Critchfield, led California over Washington with 25 points although the losing Huskies' Gordy Harris took high-point honors with 31.

Art Harris of Stnaford was almost the whole show for the Indians against Washington State. He led Stanford with 17 points, scored the bucket that tied the game 67-67 at the end of regulation play and dunked in the decided with 38 seconds left in the five-minute extra session.

USC managed to beat Oregon despite 35 points by Nick Jones, who had only seven at halftime. Steve Jennings had 26 for USC.

Airmen Capture Bobsled Title

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — A U.S. Air Force team, headed by Gary Sheffield, earned first-place laurels yesterday in the two-man National AAU Bobsled Championships.

Sheffield and brakeman Howie Siler posted a total time of 4:49.9 in four heats and turned in the fastest time of the day with one heat in 1:10.35.

Just beyond the finish line, however, a tipover sent Sheffield to a Lake Placid hospital for observation of minor injuries. Siler escaped harm.

The accident occurred as the two were thrown from their sled as they started up a slight rise designed to slow the bobs.

The Lake Placid Bobsled Club, with Bill Hickey at the controls, swept to victory Saturday in the AAU four-man competition.

Olympic Rehearsals Turn Into Fiasco

GRENOBLE, France (UPI) —The last of the foreign competitors in the ill-fated pre-Olympic games departed for home today, leaving Olympic organizers snowed under a wave of criticism.

As the vast organization began to assess the controversy-ridden Olympic rehearsal extravaganza, reports mounted that the organization faced a major reshuffle.

"After such a fiasco reorganization can't be ignored," said one high placed official commenting on published reports that heads would roll soon.

French government officials yesterday denied that the government's ministry of youth and sports, which funnels financial aid to the Olympic organization, was leading the expected purge.

Critics of the Olympic organization and the National Sports Federation, which works hand in glove with it, have charged them with incompetence, disorganization and a lack of leadership.

It was at Chamrousse, scene of the final Alpine events that the criticism blew up into an international scandal.

Cramped and inadequate facilities led the crack Austrian, Swiss and West German teams to walk out in protest.

While the incident was played down by officials they all but shattered the alpine races by leaving the highly ranked French skiers to race without their most consistent challengers.

As it turned out the French women, led by a trio of youngsters —Isabelle Mir, 18, Florence Steurer, 17, and Mari France Jean Georges —dominated the women's events, while the men found themselves surprisingly challenged by Scandinavian and Italian teams.

The only men's victory was in the downhill, where top ranked Jean Claude Killy, the world downhill champion, won handily yesterday ahead of two Italians.

Police Suspect Arson In Deadly Racetrack Blaze

SAN MATEO (AP) — Police, fire and California Horse-racing Association inspectors were investigating today whether an arsonist set the Bay Meadows Track barn fire that killed 10 horses.

The Saturday midnight fire killed four horses. Six more were destroyed afterward. They all were quarterhorses at the track for a current meeting.

"Everything leans toward arson," said San Mateo fire marshal Cecil A. Morris.

There were three fires set. Two were extinguished earlier in the evening by firemen.

Most of the 20 horses in the barn were owned by Suzanne and Vicki Hawkins of Lockeford, Calif., in Stanislaus County, who operate under the name of the Hadan Livestock Co.

Philadelphia Blows Lead But Still Edges St. Louis

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers proved it's going to take quite a comeback to beat them out of the National Bsaketball Association's Eastern Division title.

The St. Louis Hawks tried it yesterday and failed, and it now appears the same fate awaits the Boston Celtics.

The 76ers blew a 23-point third-quarter lead against St. Louis and still won, 123-122, re-establishing an 8½ game lead over the Celtics after it wilted to 5½ last week.

With only 15 games left for Philadelphia, Boston's chances of regaining the division title they lost to the 76ers last year appear slim. Boston has 18 games remaining.

The 76er victory also discouraged St. Louis's hopes of catching San Francisco in the Western Division as the Hawks fell eight games back in second place.

Baltimore also jumped to a big lead against Detroit, but the Pistons naver made a move and the injured Bullets claimed a 131-104 victory in Detroit.

The Chicago Bulls overtook Los Angeles 133-119 in California in the other game.

The Hawks trailed 92-69 late in the third quarter when rookie Lou Hudson, who finished with 38 points, set them afire in the nationally televised contest in St. Louis.

A 46-point final period put the Hawks ahead 122-120 with a minute left, but Wilt Chamberlain stuffed a rebound to tie the count.

When the Hawks missed with 10 seconds remaining, Bill Cunningham grabbed the rebound for the 76ers and was fouled while trying to call time out. He sank only one of three free throws with six seconds left, but it was enough as St. Louis flubbled a try at a final shot.

Hal Greer topped Philadelphia with 24 points. Chamberlain hit 11 of 11 from the field, but missed all nine of his free throws.

Baltimore took a 17-point first quarter lead and protected it as former Piston Ray Scott had 30 points and Jack Marin and LeRoy Ellis had 26 each. The Bullets were playing without injured Don Ohl, GusJohnson and Johnny Green.

Tom Van Arsdale had 24 for Detroit.

The Lakers led 63-62 at the half and clung to narrow leads in the final two periods before Don Kojis hit four points for a 94-93 Chicago lead andthe Bulls pulled away.

Jerry Sloan finished with 31 points for the Bulls while Jerry West and Eglin Baylor each had 27 for Los Angeles.

In Saturday night's action, New York edged Cincinnati 124-123, Detroit turned back Baltimore 118-113 and San Francisco downed Boston 130-124.

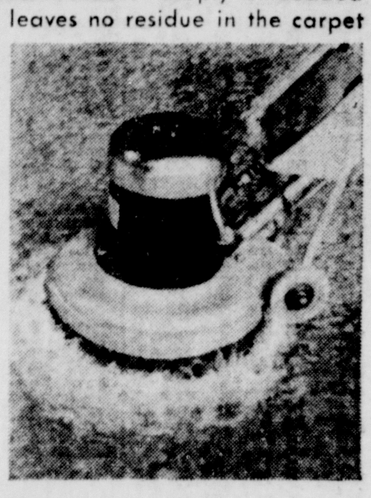
DEEP STEAM Wall to Wall Carpet Cleaning

This unique new process cleans deep and yet treats the finest carpet with loving care...

DEEP STEAM removes soil from both the pile of the carpet and the carpet backing. Since no brushes or scrubbing action are used, there is no distortion of the carpet pile. The powerful extraction action of the DEEP STEAM process lifts matted pile to "like new" appearance. The need of frequent professional cleaning is reduced because deeply embedded soil is removed and leaves no residue in the carpet fibers to collect dirt.

OLD

The old equipment with brushes, using liquid detergent or powder, scrubs the soil DEEPER into the fabric ... and even with the help of a vacuum fails to remove soil or residue. The detergent or powder left in the fabric soon attracts more soil and it is not long before the soil works back to the surface. Soon your carpets appear more soiled than before!



THIS DEEP STEAM PROCESS IS GUARANTEED TO BE COMPLETELY SAFE ON ALL FABRICS UNDER ALL CONDITIONS!

The advantages of DEEP STEAM CLEANING are obvious!

Uniform Cleaning May Be Deductible

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Amounts you spend for uniforms and uniform laundry on special work clothes for your job are sometimes deductible, depending on what kind of work clothing you must wear. If you are reimbursed by your employer or if you are an outside salesman, the cost of special work clothes is deductible from gross income. For all other employees it is deductible only if you itemize your deductions on page 2.

Wikel

The general rule on work clothing is that it must be a special kind required by the job and it must not be adaptable for use as ordinary street wear. Cases are clear cut.

considered individually. The important thing is the rule about street wear. It doesn't matter how dirty your clothes get on the job. For example, welders' and painters' clothes are not deductible. Nor are mechanics' or plumbers' overalls, even though all of the above are not usually considered appropriate street wear.

But the same clothing would more than likely be deductible if your employer required you to wear them with the company name sewn on as advertisement, for it would then be no longer adaptable as street wear.

The cost of certain types of work clothing is often allowed as a deduction where the prime purpose is safety, i.e., to protect the body of the worker. This would include such things as protective gloves, goggles, steel toed shoes and hard hats.

But for most of us the clothes we wear to work are considered a personal expense and are not deductible no matter how quick they wear out and no matter how important it is that you look good on the job.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Protect Savings By Equity Stake

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "We are a middle-aged couple with one small child and have $20,000 in savings. Would we be wise in buying a home — to pay for it with cash using all our savings — or put part of our money into stocks? We are afraid of inflation and would hate to see our savings lost." K.H.

A. Your fears are very natural and are shared by many people who write to me. For most of my lifetime the dollar has been declining in value and the price level of good stocks has been rising. I know of no way to protect yourself adequately against short-term spurts of inflation such as we have seen recently. Over a longer period, an investment in better grade equities should enhance your capital at a rate equal at least to any future rise in living costs.

I believe you should put half your savings into a home — carrying a mortgage on the unpaid balance which will ultimately be paid off with cheaper dollars. I would keep $5,000 in savings and invest the balance in equal dollar amounts of Corn Products, Union Oil of California and Texas Utilities. These are high-grade stocks with consistent growth records.

Q. "I am 82 and my only income is $110 a month Social Security. I have $4,000 cash, 10 Standard Packaging and 50 North Central Airlines. Neither pays dividents. I need more income. Please advise." P. C.

A. It is very distressing to encounter someone in your difficult position. I advise you to sell both your stocks. I would combine the proceeds with about $2,600 of your savings and buy a $3,000 straight life annuity from an insurance company licensed to do business in your state. You should derive from this annuity a guaranteed income for life of close to $40 a month — higher than you can get from any other safe form of investment.

State-Chartered Banks Growing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 96 state-chartered banks in California increased their resources by $786 million to $12.9 billion in 1966.

James M. Hall, state superintendent of banks, announced today the gain of 6.5 per cent in total resources despite a tight-money situation. The gain in 1965 was 4.8 per cent.

Total deposits rose 5.9 per cent from slightly above $10.5 billion to almost $11.2 billion.

Real estate loans increased 6.2 per cent.

Stocks Down Again For Fourth Day

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today, posting its fourth straight daily loss. Trading was moderate.

Volume for the first four hours was 5.9 million shares compared with 6.09 million Friday.

In a mixed opening, gainers were slightly more numerous than losers but as the session wore on the situation changed and losers outnumbered gainers well over 2-1.

The market seemed headed for its fourth straight daily retreat. Some of the softness was attributed to the need for correction of the big January advance but the business news background was drab, as well. It worsened late in the day when General Motors said it would have to close 22 of its 23 U.S. auto assembly plants Friday because of a continuing strike at a Mansfield, Ohio, parts plant.

GM common stretched its initial loss to close to 2 points but pared the decline in later dealings.

Avco loomed as the most active issue, losing about a point, following news that stockholders had tendered about 9.2 million shares of stock in response to a purchase offer of Paul Revere Corp.

General Electric and Chrysler (ex-dividend) were active and down more than a point.

IBM lost about 5 and Xerox 3.

Losses of a point or so were taken by U.S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Phelps Dodge, Du Pont and United Air Lines.

Eastern and American Airlines dropped 2 each while Pan American held its loss to a fraction.

M-G-M gained nearly 2 points as its proxy fight neared a climax.

Prices were scrambled on the American Stock Exchange.

January Bank Debits Decline

January bank debits in Marin County were down from January of last year, but deposits showed gains over the 1966 level.

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco has reported adjusted debits of $162,753,000, compared with $168,149,000 in January of last year. Unadjusted deposits increased to $81,183,000 from $76,631,000 a year ago.

Adjusted debits, deposits and turnover ratios are still not reported for Marin County.

$70 Million In BART Bonds Bought

SAN FRANCISCO — A Bank of America underwriting syndicate group which included United California Bank, yesterday bought the $70 million San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District Bonds.

Net interest cost to the district was 3.7442 per cent.
